Peace Settles On Heights of Changkufeng

Last Shots Said Fired on Manchu Borderline Of Siberia—Fighting Continues Up To Final Moment

TOKYO, Aug. 11—Peace settled like a wary bird over the heights of Changkufeng today. Russian and Japanese forces rested on their arms as bugles sounded the order to terminate 11 days of inconclusive hostilities.

In accordance with the armitice agreement reached in Moscow last night, fighting stopped at noon today. But not until the very last moment did the Russians cease their efforts to regain the summits of the disputed hills near the Korean border.

News of the armistice sent stocks rocketting on the Tokyo exchange with gains of two to five points as business circles registered relief over the termination of the crisis. Government and military spokesmen indicated they were content with the outcome of the dispute.

Although news of the truce arrangement must have been known last night at headquarters of the red army at Novokievik, the Soviet troops attacked this morning with undiminished vigor.

ATTACK AGAIN

At 7:30 a.m. the red forces came up the slopes again in another attempt to plant the red flag on the top of Changkufeng. Once again artillery pounded and the Japanese held their fire until it ceased and then turned back the advancing Soviet line with machine-gun fire and hand grenades.

Shelling continued through the morning, punctuated by repeated attacks.

LAST SHOTS FIRED

Japanese correspondents reported the last shots were fired from the Soviet side after the truce deadline.

The truce was arrived at by Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu and the Soviet foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, in Moscow. A commission will be set up to delimit the border and the basis of its work—the documents and maps to be admitted for consideration—will be determined by further negotiation.

Note Writer Is Jailed For Hearing

Puzzle For Cop

A note-writing crazed man gave Constable W. G. Stanton a busy hour Wednesday.

Appearing at the police station he began to communicate with Stan'on by written notes. The first one contained two words: "Ken tock."

After some thought on the matter Stanton believed he had figured it out and came right back with: "Okay, what ken you tock about?"

Whereupon the stranger wrote: "Salsna in my stomak."

So Stanton and his new-found friend went into the subject of this Salsna business, with the result that the man and Stanton went for a ride on a police motorcycle.

Visiting the man's home, the constable learned that the man was obviously a victim of a mental quirk. His wife stated he had awakened in the middle of the night before, had cried and shouted prayers, and then gone out in the yard to chop wood.

Then the man threatened to kill a neighbor. Asked about this the man once more wrote a note: "Sherref i wont tock to him."

This was enough for Stanton. He drove the man to the police station where he is locked up pending an insanity hearing.

Mother Is Anxious To Hear Son

Peter Matson of Fort Norman, N.W.T. or now possibly of some other point in the far north, is sought by his mother, Mrs. Mary Mitchell of Summerland, B.C.

Reading an item concerning Matson, who was then at Fort Norman, in The Bulletin, Mrs. Mitchell, who says she has not heard of her son for years, is anxious to get in touch with him and wrote The Bulletin to this effect.

"Do a mother a favor and locate my son for me," writes Mrs. Mitchell. "I can't write him as I do not know where he is staying, but please ask him to write me and I will be very grateful."

Anyone knowing Peter Matson's present whereabouts is asked to give him the above message.

Corrigan Will Prepare For Regular Job

(See Pictures Page 11)

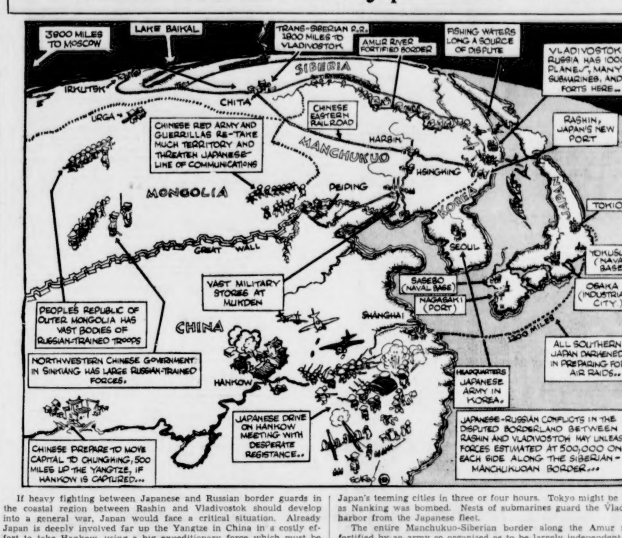

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Douglas Corrigan said today he planned to return immediately to New York to reassemble his $900 Atlantic-spanning airplane and then to prepare for a regular job.

Feted at a breakfast by Oswald Ryan, member of the United States civil aeronautics authority, Corrigan told a group of government officials he intended soon to accept a co-pilot's job with an airline company (American Airlines).

"Co-pilot?" an official asked, "I thought you'd be a bigger shot than that."

No," smiled the flier. "I guess it'll be a long time before I'm a big shot."

Where New Border Clashes Threatened General War Between Japan And Russia

If heavy fighting between Japanese and Russian border guards in the coastal region between Rashin and Vladivostok should develop into a general war, Japan would face a critical situation. Already Japan is deeply involved far up the Yangtze in China in a costly effort to take Hankow, using a big expeditionary force which must be supplied over a 1,200-mile sea journey from Yokohama and Tokyo. Last year's successes in the Peiping-Tientsin area are endangered by raids and guerrilla warfare which have regained hundreds of square miles and even struck at the railroad connecting this Nipponese expeditionary force with its supply bases in Manchukuo.

A third clash in the north, in which planes, tanks, artillery, and thousands of infantry on each side were involved, threatened to bring in tremendous forces against Japan. The Russian Far-East army numbers at least 500,000 men. Probably 1,000 planes are concentrated at Vladivostok. These could cover the six or seven hundred miles to Japan's teeming cities in three or four hours. Tokyo might be bombed as Nanking was bombed. Nests of submarines guard the Vladivostok harbor from the Japanese fleet.

The entire Manchukuo-Siberian border along the Amur river is fortified by an army so organized as to be largely independent of supplies from far-away Moscow. While Japan probably has 500,000 highly-trained troops in Manchukuo, the old plan to drive north and cut the Trans-Siberian railway is no longer a good strategy as when conceived, for a branch line 500 miles farther north has now been completed. General war with Russia would also mean more active Russian help for China. Great forces, Russian-trained, in the nominally independent areas of Sinkiang and Outer Mongolia could be sent to aid the Chinese. Peace moves from Tokyo are easy to understand, for general involvement would mean the fighting of two great wars at once on two far-separated foreign fronts.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS IS ALBERTA WAIL

Small Pay Depletes Ranks Of Western School Educators

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11.—Possibility of shortage of school teachers in western Canada was predicted in a report of the Alberta Teachers' Federation Wednesday to delegates of the 17th annual Canadian Teachers' convention here.

Low salaries and general conditions in the west were given in the report as reasons for the lack of teachers to supply schools. The report urged steps be taken to alleviate conditions preventing young men and women from following the profession in Alberta.

Low salary scales were stressed in all reports with Saskatchewan's wage scale the lowest. A particular case was mentioned of a Saskatchewan teacher who received less than $100 annually.

Foreign Policy Demand Voiced By Dominions

Attorney-General For Australia Seeks Empire Conference to Determine One Plan For All—Chamberlain Control

By WEBB MILLER

British United Press: Exclusive Cable to The Bulletin

LONDON, Aug. 11—Dissatisfaction by Empire leaders with the present arrangements whereby they are kept in ignorance of British foreign affairs until after a crisis has arisen, and a demand that an empire foreign policy be formulated in which all the dominions will share, is likely to lead to the calling of some form of Imperial conference to discuss the matter in the near future.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's determination to pursue his personal foreign policy is believed by close political observers here to be responsible for the demand voiced by Hon. R. G. Menzies, attorney general of Australia, that the government should call an Empire conference and consult with the dominions and colonies, so that all should have a common foreign policy.

The Menzies' demand has been received with the utmost consideration by the London Times and the Daily Telegraph, who editorially commend it, but neither of these newspapers reveal what gave rise to it.

The Australian leader has realized that there is a gap between what the Dominions Office, through the Foreign Office, tells the dominions about foreign affairs, and what is in Prime Minister Chamberlain's mind. This gap, in turn, is due to the gap between Mr. Chamberlain and the permanent officials of the Foreign Office.

IN FULL SWING

When Hon. Anthony Eden was Foreign Secretary, the Foreign Office was supreme in foreign affairs, although subjected to irritating incursions by the prime minister, but since Mr. Eden left Mr. Chamberlain has taken full control, despite the existence of Lord Halifax as Foreign Secretary, and it is not by going to the Foreign Office that the dominions can learn what is

PRICE SPREAD UNWARRANTED AGRICS CLAIM

Union Wants a More Stable Price For Farm Produce

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 11. — At a meeting at Turin Wednesday, the Farmers' Union scored the wide price spread between wheat, bread, flour and other necessities, and urged the United Grain Growers and the three provincial wheat pools to amalgamate.

Protests are being sent to the provincial and federal governments condemning the unwarranted price spread, and urging action on the question, which, it was said, has been exploited by "racketeers" selling quack remedies.

A manifesto, setting out the objects and policy of the Union was discussed. The object of the organization is to demand a more stable price for farm produce and thus enable a more stable standard of living.

$825,000 Cost For Work Plan Launched Here

Largest Program of Public Improvement in Years Now Proceeding in Edmonton—Utilities Are Modernized

Major municipal public works with a total valuation of $825,000 are either planned or in progress, in one of the largest programs of city improvement in recent years.

Projects either in course of construction or being tendered for are: completing modernization of the city telephone system by construction and equipment of two new sub-stations, $400,000; paving 15 blocks on 104 avenue and two blocks on 109 street, $100,000; installation of a six-vehicle trolley bus route as a first unit, $265,000; an electric power substation to convert current for the street railway, $25,000; a third hangar at the airport, $35,000.

Tenders for a $100,000 program of paving to cover a route on 104 avenue from 101 street to 116 street and on 109 street from 102 to 104 avenue have been advertised and will close at noon on August 18, it was announced Thursday by City Engineer A. W. Haddow.

SUB-STATION

The city will start work on Monday on construction of a brick and concrete power sub-station building at 107 avenue and 124 street to cost approximately $7,000. Equipment which is now in transit for installation will cost approximately $18,000. The sub-station will be used to convert alternating current into direct current for use of west-end street cars. Fred L. Allyn, building contractor, is constructing the building.

"The paving on 104 avenue is greatly needed," the city engineer said. "It is a thoroughfare which serves a large wholesale district and also is a throughfare to the west end.

1,000 VEHICLES

"To give you an idea of how busy this road is, it is travelled by approximately 4,000 vehicles a day, while the Calgary highway, where it enters the city, is used by an average of 1,000 vehicles a day. The 109 street paving completes the surfacing from 102 avenue to the subway," he said.

BIG PROJECT

Lieut.-Governor Proves Ability As Trapshooter

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen proved himself possessor of an unerring eye on Thursday when, at the opening of the Provincial Trap Shooting Club tournament, he "cracked" the first five birds of the tournament.

His Honor was performing the opening ceremonies and in connection with this, was asked to shoot the first five "birds" released from the catches.

One after another the "birds" flew into the air and one by one His Honor took aim, and shattered the clay-fliers into bits.

Warm praise was showered upon him by the skilled shots in the offing.

The story behind the accuracy (just on Wednesday. His Honor was persuaded to visit the scene of the shoot and while there, was also persuaded to try once more, his aim. He took a few shots and found he was doing well.

TAX SALES TO OPEN ON 4,500 LAND PARCELS

Properties Will Be Sold In November—Drayton Valley First

First municipal tax sale of the coming autumn is scheduled to take place at Drayton Valley on Nov. 3, it was learned on Thursday from municipal affairs department officials. Other sales have been set for Edmonton on Nov. 16; Retlaw on Nov. 17 and Tilley East area on Nov. 18.

In the Alberta Gazette of July 15 there appeared 35 pages of farm lands, mostly half sections, totalling 4,500 in all which were listed liable to tax sale.

GRAIN ON LAND

A short time after that it was announced that no sales would take place until the autumn as in some cases there was standing grain on the land and authorities were anxious to enable farmers to derive the benefit of the proceeds of the grain and thus contribute toward the tax collections.

Most of the land, about 4,400 of 4,500 parcels are in the drouth areas of the southern and south-eastern part of the province.

ABANDONED

Tax sales have been in order for years and the idea of them is to regain control of the government, brought under control of the special areas board and then made available for re-settlement. Most of the lands now up for sale have been abandoned.

In cases where grain is standing officials point out there is no difficulty in obtaining a stay of action and in no case has any holder been dispossessed of land.

HUGE GERMAN PLANE MAKES NON-STOP HOP

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Completing the first non-stop flight between Berlin and New York westward over the north Atlantic ever attempted, the four-motored German transport plane "Brandenburg" came to rest on Floyd Bennett airport today at 12:33 p.m. N.S.T.

The 19-ton machine, which normally carries 24 passengers but carried a crew only on the 3,942-mile trip from the German capital, had been in the air for exactly 25 hours.

The official time of the flight was 24 hours, 54 minutes, however, because the signal was timed by its passage over the Field Administration building. The ship circled the field several times before landing.

James Roosevelt's Taxable Income Is Put At $170,000

The $170,000 figure, the paper asserted, included the president's son's total income from all sources, except his $1,000 federal salary as secretary and aide to the president. That salary, by law, is not taxable.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 — Waterfront police hunted a hat Wednesday. What made the hat so valuable was a brooch pinned to it containing 92 diamonds—valued at $2,000. It blew off the head of Mrs. Ogden Reid, wife of the editor of the New York Herald Tribune, as she cruised on a yacht in the east river.

ROWDYISM IS BANNED FOR C. C. F. MEET

NEW TORONTO, Aug. 11.—Every person connected with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation who intends to be present at its outdoor "defence" meeting Friday night in this Toronto suburb, was instructed today not to engage in any rowdyism or resistance of police. The meeting was called to test the validity of a month-old "padlock by-law" prohibiting outdoor public meetings without a municipal permit.

Rowdyism is not the issue so far as the C.C.F. is concerned, E. B. Jolliffe of the provincial executive said today. "We would only defeat our own ends by creating a disturbance," he said. "There will be no trouble so far as the C.C.F. is concerned. Specific instructions will be given that no one is to resist police in any way if the meeting is broken up."

Cool Weather Increases Gas Consumption

CALGARY, Aug. 11—It's an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody some good and the cool breezes that have kept Calgary temperatures hovering near the 60 degree above zero mark the past few nights are no exception to the rule.

In the past three days gas consumption in city homes has risen 50 percent over normal for this time of the year.

NO IRRIGATION PROJECT FOR MEDICINE HAT

No Readiness Shown By Alberta for Rehabilitation Policy, Gardiner Says

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal minister of agriculture, arrived in the city late Wednesday following a conference with representatives of the Medicine Hat Chamber of Commerce.

En route to the Pacific coast, where he plans to combine a short vacation with official business, Mr. Gardiner will spend all day Thursday here.

PRESENT CASE

In Medicine Hat Mr. Gardiner was interviewed by A. P. Burns and Dr. F. W. Gershaw, representing the Medicine Hat chamber of commerce, who presented the possibilities of the Ronalane-Redcliff irrigation project under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

Alberta did not show the same readiness as Saskatchewan to accept the federal rehabilitation policies, under which it was necessary for the Dominion government to secure title to lands rehabilitated, Mr. Gardiner told the delegates, according to a statement issued.

COST TOO GREAT

While commenting favorably upon the Medicine Hat proposal as a rehabilitation measure, Mr. Gardiner said: "Even if an acceptable proposal had been presented for a development of the Medicine Hat scheme it would not have been possible to have proceeded with it this year because the cost would have been equal to the entire vote for prairie farm rehabilitation."

switching equipment has been erected and is now being cabled and inter-connected, it was learned from R. Christie, telephone superintendent. This work is expected to be completed in October or November this year. The department will start installing new subscribers' phones in September and it is expected that the new system will be put into service by November. Cost of this unit is $170,000.

In the north area exchange, the building is completed and the underground ducts are being laid. It is expected that this exchange will be placed in service by April of 1939. Cost of the unit is $230,000.

City engineer's department now is surveying the projected trolley bus route for planned overhead structure, Commissioner R. J. Gibb reported. Also part of the overhead work will be done this year.

BUS WORK

Overhead structure, wiring, necessary paving and other work on the route will cost about $150,000 for which the city is seeking a federal loan. The route runs from South Edmonton, probably starting at 104 street and Whyte avenue, down Strathcona hill, over the Low Level bridge and up McDougall hill, through a limited downtown area and part way to North Edmonton.

Twelve British and American firms have been invited to tender for supply of six 40-passenger trolley busses, tenders to close on September 19.

Work is progressing rapidly on No. 3 hangar at the airport, the walls being up, utilities installed and the roof now being put on.

Edmonton's application to the Dominion government for a two per cent loan of $237,500 to cover part of those works will be forwarded to Ottawa this week, Commissioner Gibb said he had learned from a provincial official.

out of politics as a party to support good policies of any or all parties and condemn bad legislation. The manifesto points out that it is the duty of the government to protect the primary producer in selling his produce and buying his necessities, and also the consumers.

Opposition was registered against speculative grain marketing, which the organization felt, enabled a few large interests to control prices and the union determined to pursue a course to eliminate such market and control.

ELIMINATE COMPETITION

In urging the amalgamation of the grain companies the farmers felt that by so doing competition among themselves would be eliminated. Grain companies were also urged to own or control their own flour mills and bakeries and sell the wheat in a manufactured state.

Big Replacement Farm Machinery Lethbridge Area

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 11—Over a million dollars worth of new farm equipment has been delivered by local dealers in the past three or four weeks since it became fairly sure that the harvest would be a good one. New combines, binders and trucks form the bulk of the deliveries. One Lethbridge dealer delivered 27 trucks on Saturday last, another 12 on the same day.

It is the greatest replacement of farm equipment since 1930.

Foreign Policy Sought

happening, but by going direct to the prime minister.

This dualism has been reflected in the press where statements inspired by Mr. Chamberlain have not been known to the Foreign Office which has an excellent press department. This has made the position of the official representatives of the dominions in London most difficult, because the Dominions Office officials have been unable themselves to tell whether the prime minister's personal foreign policy, or the foreign policy of the Foreign Office has been in existence at the moment.

SAME POSITION

The same position arose when Ramsay MacDonald was prime minister and foreign secretary, and it led to similar complaints to those now being made. Mr. MacDonald had a personal foreign policy of which the foreign office had little knowledge, and the result was disastrous.

Former Prime Minister William Hughes of Australia advocates abolition of the dominions office as an anachronism, which indeed it is under the present circumstances. Since the settlement of the Irish problem, which led to the transfer of Malcolm MacDonald to the colonial office, which is regarded as a far more important post, there has been little reason for the existence of the dominions office, which is now a mere clearing house as a channel of communication between the high commissioners of the dominions overseas and the British government, although whenever a crisis arises the high commissioners are called into conference by the prime minister or to see Lord Halifax.

FOLLOWING CRISIS

This is generally after the crisis arises. Before then they are informed of developments by the dominions office.

There is a department in the Foreign Office known as the "Dominions Information Section" whose work it is to keep the dominions informed on developments in foreign affairs through the Dominions Office, although Australia has a liaison officer at the Foreign Office who watches Australian interests. The question now arises as to whether it is not necessary for the other high commissioners to have similar ambassadors to avoid the present confusion of the Dominions Office, and thus be able to advise the dominion governments of the true state of affairs.

ABOLITION

This would in time lead to the abolition of the Dominions Office, because the high commissioner would deal direct with each government department with which their immediate business is concerned.

It is becoming obvious, following Mr. Mackenzie's statement, that effort must be made to give some empire form of foreign policy, but the difficulty arises from the fact that Mr. Chamberlain has his own personal foreign policy, and that only direct contact with him will obtain the necessary information for the dominions.

It is understood that Prime Minister Chamberlain, who is the leader of the Imperialists in Great Britain shares the views expressed by Mr. Mackenzie, and it is likely that some form of Imperial conference for the consideration of foreign affairs will be called in the near future.

Heat Fusillade In Sun Attack Early Thursday

The sun attacked with an early fusillade of heat rays on Thursday and sent the thermometer scampering upwards so it was passing the 68 degree point at 9 a.m.

The barometer was steady at 27.77 and the forecast from the government weather station was "fair and warm."

Temperature at 4 p.m. Wednesday scored its maximum of 74 degrees, dipping only to 48 during the night.

Far north points were warm, Aklavik leading the field with a 60 degree reading. Atlin and Lower Post in northern British Columbia were coolest with 46.

Manion Asserts Dominion Government Should Assume Relief Costs

Municipal Taxes Must Be Reduced To Aid Recovery

Tory Leader Says That Federal Government Should Act on Economic Problems—Favors Two-Party System

BARRY'S BAY, Ont., Aug. 11—The Dominion government must assume the burden of relief costs, enabling a reduction in existing heavy municipal taxation which was retarding business recovery, Hon. R. J. Manion, federal Conservative leader, said in an address here Wednesday.

"Something precious" was going from Canadian life as young men lost the ambition to build and to own their own homes, Dr. Manion told a church picnic in this Renfrew county lumbering town. But until municipal taxation was reduced little could be expected. The relief burden must be put on the federal government and taken away from the municipalities.

The address was Dr. Manion's first in eastern Ontario since his election to the party leadership at the Ottawa convention July 7. It was delivered in his native county at the annual picnic of St. Hedwig's church on the outskirts of Barry's Bay.

TWO PARTIES BEST

Federal governments in the past had done little in the way of national planning of Canada's economic life, he said. It was time for action on economic problems. The policy of drifting had brought about a fear psychology and "a danger of revolution which we must realize."

The principles and practices of British Democratic government could best be carried on in Canada by the two-party system, said Dr. Manion. His hope as Conservative leader was to justify this system and to leave the Dominion the better for his leadership.

"If we are to build up our country, to make a contented and happy people, we must increase the numbers of the middle classes, those of moderate incomes and moderately well off," he added. This would be made "at the expense of both ends—the many poor and the fewer wealthy."

BRITISH FREEDOM

The British way of things envisaged parliamentary institutions, freedom of press, speech and assembly and an economic system based on private enterprise. Dr. Manion believed in them. The individual's right to make a profit should be protected.

Dictatorships, whether of individuals as in Germany and Italy or of a small group from a particular class as in Russia, destroyed the liberties that Canadians loved. But those liberties demanded and needed protection. One way to serve this end was improvement of the economic system.

"Our way of life is well worth saving," said the new Conservative leader. "I believe in saving it. But unless we correct the errors of that system we may not be able to save it."

FOUR-WAY PROGRAM

Four things were needed to justify the British democratic system today, Dr. Manion said: Greater opportunities for youth; work and wages for all willing to work; security for the aged; a fair deal for all.

"The country owes no man a living but it owes to all the right to earn a living," he said.

Dr. Manion defined "barbarism" as a system that permits a few to rule the many. No matter what security it might offer the individual it was barbaric if it deprived him of liberty of speech and assembly won over many centuries.

Confederation must be maintained in Canada. Ninety-five per cent of the people were determined to maintain it.

PROBLEM FOR DOMINION IS ECONOMIC ONE

Decent Standard Of Living Must Be Established Speaker Says

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 11.—"The essence of today's problem in Canada is economic, not political or constitutional, and an economic solution must be found, in the opinion of Frank H. Underhill, professor of history at the University of Toronto.

Prof. Underhill told the seventh annual conference of the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics last night that "beside all political difficulties lie the fundamental problems of establishing a decent standard of living for our populace."

DESIRE FOR POWER

Similarly, the differences between French- and English-speaking Canadians were materialistic and not philosophic. This was due mainly to the common desire for more power.

The root of Canada's difficulties was not cultural. All wanted the material things of life. Canadians should be "a little more cynical" and admit they all "were after Ottawa jobs" instead of always insisting on their "noble ideals."

Prof. Underhill thought Canada was on the brink of an era of intense nationalism. "Everybody is beginning to talk the language of nationalism again," he said. "The next Dominion general election campaign will be one of rival nationalist platforms."

AFRAID OF CHECK

He claimed those parts of the Dominion in which provincial loyalty was strongest were dominated by "big business" interests. Businessmen stimulated this loyalty because they were afraid of the check on their activities a completely centralized government would effect.

"Concentration of power at the centre of Canada means danger for democratic liberties," the history professor continued. "We can guard against this danger in part by placing province against province, creating an internal balance of power.

"Organization of the consumer and the producer to force the processor—the middle man—to the fulcrum of a new sort of social balance would offer a solution. Determination of the individual to be free, the surest guarantee of individual liberty, might effect this protective balance of power."

BRITAIN AND U.S. TO SHARE PACIFIC ISLE

LONDON, Aug. 11—The British foreign office announced last night Great Britain and the United States had agreed on joint use of Canton and Enderbury islands in mid-Pacific for aviation and other communication.

The announcement said:

"The governments of the United States of America and the United Kingdom agreed to set up a regime for use in common of Canton and Enderbury in the Phoenix group and for employment of these islands for purposes connected with international aviation and communication with equal facilities for each party.

"Details of the regime will be determined in notes to be exchanged between the two governments."

The islands are part of the Phoenix group, about 2,000 miles south southwest of the Hawaiian islands, on the air route from Honolulu to Australia and New Zealand.

Flying Priest is at End of Hazardous Journey to Aid Seriously Ill Missionary

ARCTIC BAY, Baffin Island, N.W.T., Aug. 11.—(Via Transport Department Wireless)—Father Paul Schulte, his mechanic brother Beaudoin and the stricken missionary, Father Chochard, left here yesterday at 1:15 p.m., M.S.T., for Chesterfield, N.W.T., where Father Chochard will be placed in hospital. He was suffering from a fever.

IGLOOLIK, Melville Peninsula, N.W.T., Aug. 11.—Father Paul Schulte, flying priest of the Arctic, and his mechanic, Brother Beaudoin, landed in this harbor at the end of the historic Strait of Fury and Hecla late yesterday, eager to take off on the last lap of their flight to Arctic Bay, where a brother priest and missionary, Father Chochard, is seriously ill. They were scheduled to resume their flight today.

The flight from here to Arctic Bay will be over the Gulf of Boothia and the rock-bound shores of northern Baffin Island almost 350 miles to Admiralty Inlet which cuts into the great island from the north. Arctic Bay runs off the inlet and is approximately 600 miles inside the Arctic circle, whereas Igloolik is about 200 miles inside the circle.

With almost perpetual day, the flying priest and his companion have raced from Churchill on their errand of mercy despite unfavorable weather. Their first stop was at Chesterfield and from there they hopped to Igloolik some 350 miles.

Father Schulte had hoped to pick up Dr. Robert Melling at Chesterfield but Dr. Melling was too ill to go with him. However, from the powerful government radio station there he wirelessed instructions to Arctic Bay for the care of the stricken missionary reported to have a fever of 105.

Arctic Bay is one of the new ports of the north.

Father Schulte plans to bring the sick missionary back in his plane to Chesterfield, where he will be taken care of in the Oblate Fathers.

ONE SPECIFIC TYPE OF PLANE WILL BE BUILT

MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—Canadian aircraft manufacturers were to meet with Great Britain's air mission today to exchange views on Canada's potentialities for supplying planes to the Royal Air Force.

The negotiating committee representing the Canadian industry was to be invited to build one specific type of machine, Sir Samuel Hardman Lever, head of the mission, said yesterday. He indicated, too, the committee favored one central assembly plant for the possible "substantial" British orders.

Decision on the plant location would await the arrival here early next week of Sir Edward Ellington, inspecting factories at Vancouver, Winnipeg and Fort William, Ont., as he travels toward Montreal from Australia. The decision, however, would be up to the manufacturers.

CANADA'S BEAUTY CAPTURES ARTIST

VICTORIA, Aug. 11.—Paying his first visit to Canada, F. M. de la Coze, well-known English landscape painter of Eastbourne, England, was amazed and delighted with the beauty of this country.

"Frankly," he remarked, "I had never before been to Canada because I thought Canada was such a new country it had nothing to offer in the way of Art.

"But I have changed my mind. The old towns of Wuebec are charming and the Rockies are magnificent. They are the biggest feature. I resisted everything until I arrived in the Rockies and then I couldn't resist any longer. I had to paint."

Mr. de la Coze, whose paintings hang in the International Salon at Paris, had praise for the art galleries of Canada and was particularly fascinated by the displays at Vancouver, British Columbia's only gallery centre.

A smoke pall prevented the painter from doing scenes at Victoria but he will stay here until the atmosphere is clear.

Woman, Age 100, Insists She Will Have No Guardian

Mrs. Peterson indignantly told Superior Judge John J. Allen, who moved court to the centenarian's home, "What do I want a guardian for? I'm only 100."

ANTICOSTI AIR NAVY SURVEY IS COMPLETED

Secret On War Base Findings Is Held In Ottawa

By THOMAS WAYLING
Written for The Canadian Press
PORT MENIER, Que., Aug. 11.—The Anticosti expedition of the Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force has completed its preliminary survey of Anticosti Island from a defence objective and is getting down to details as to actual sites for air and naval bases.

Reports of officers concerned have been marked confidential and have been sent direct to Ottawa, where the defence scheme will later be worked out.

ISLANDERS GLOOMY

Secrecy has now been imposed, as is usual in defence matters, and even the owners of the island have no inkling of the outcome nor of what sections of the island will be purchased or expropriated for defence purposes. Ottawa has the predominant right to take over any parts of the island needed.

Anticosti is gloomy over the loss of the chance to sell pulpwood and regain a measure of employment. Reports have seeped over from the south shore of the activity of German agents in buying up all the pulpwood available, while Anticosti is left out in the cold.

Mysterious Bones Depict Man Wearing Bowler Hat

MONTREAL, Aug. 11—"The mystery of the bones" or "The man in the bowler hat," commanded attention of Montreal detectives Wednesday night with a human hand and arm—torn letter and a frayed photograph negative the sole clues.

The collection, uncovered following a mysterious telephone tip, was found two days ago in a baggage checking box at a depot here and detectives believe it was put there by a prankster.

An examination of the bones by Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, medico-legal expert, revealed amputation of the arm apparently had been done by a surgeon and the bones expertly skinned, as though by a medical student or physician.

When developed, the negative showed a picture of a man wearing a bowler hat, judged to be between 25 and 30 years of age. He was clean-shaven and a cigarette dangled from the corner of his mouth.

After assembling the torn note, detectives distinguished the name "Erich," the well known German phrase "Auf Widersehen" and another phrase in English about "Not being too inquisitive."

Buried War Veteran Lost. Brother of Calgary Man

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—In 1915 when Thomas H. Merkley, Chesterville, Ont., left Canada to serve in the Great War, he said goodbye to his brother Harold. They did not meet again.

Wednesday, Harold Merkley, of Calgary, was informed by newspapermen that his brother died in Ontario four months ago and was buried under another name.

Their mother, Mrs. Ada Merkley of Calgary is at present visiting in Chesterville.

Merkley was buried April 29 in a Sudbury city plot as Thomas Moore. Discovery of his real identity came after four-months' investigation, started by statements he made while delirious in hospital, suffering from gangrene in one leg.

The Canadian Legion discovered his identity through the hospital in Chesterville where he was born.

"It is two years since any of his relatives had heard of him, Harold Merkley said here. His mother had last seen the veteran when she visited in the east three or four years ago.

The Nuisance Is Also a Menace

The taxpayers of the city will find no fault with the council's decision to modestly increase the appropriation for oiling gravelled streets. If funds were available they would approve a much heavier expenditure than the proposed $10,000 for the abatement of the dust nuisance, even if abatement of the nuisance were the only end to be served.

But we are now told that dust in the air is a contributing factor to the spread of infantile paralysis. That being the case, it is no longer a matter of convenience only that the streets be made dustless, but a measure of protection against an annually recurring menace to the public health.

Suppressing street dust will therefore have to be one of the serious responsibilities of the city council hereafter, and not merely a question of quieting the clamors and soothing the tempers of indignant housewives and shop-keepers. If oiling the streets is the anwer to the dust problem, this will and should bulk far more largely in the annual civic budget than it has heretofore.

Credit Where Due

The city council did a just as well as a graceful thing in declaring that the city's new recreation field shall be known as Clarke Stadium. The initiative and persistence of Ex-Mayor Clarke must be credited mainly with the fact that the city has this large and well-located playground. He initiated the proposal, and supplied the driving force which kept it before the Government, the public and the city council until the property was secured, dedicated to this use, and a beginning made in creating the necessary improvements and conveniences. Without his forceful sponsoring, at times when the scheme had little other backing, the Stadium would not have become an accomplished fact.

Men who serve the city in a distinctive way should get the credit due them. Now that the finishing touches are being given and the Stadium due to be formally opened in the near future, it is fitting that the man chiefly responsible for its existence should be officially recognized, and no more appropriate way of making such recognition could be chosen than that of associating his name permanently with the playing field.

Just In Case

Relief authorities, provincial and municipal, have been serving notices that any unemployed men who refuse harvest jobs will be struck off the relief lists, if they are in receipt of allowances or meal tickets. It is not stated that any have yet refused. The warnings are apparently anticipatory only, and intended for the information of any laggards there may be who have not yet demonstrated a perference to do nothing rather than handle sheaves.

It is not likely many will have to be cut off the lists on this account. No doubt among the unemployed, as among the employed, there are some who could not be classed as "fiends for work". But there is no warrant to suppose any great number of men without work are so by preference. When the city or the Governments have opened relief work projects there has been little if any complaint that men were found unwilling to take the jobs.

So far as the notices are concerned they might well be broadened to include jobs of any kind, not harvest work only. An able-bodied man who refuses to work at anything under any reasonable conditions, thereby forfeits all right to public support. The rule laid down for the harvest season should be the rule for all seasons, in justice to the taxpayers and also for the disciplinary effect upon any reliefman who may be willing to "chisel" rather than work.

The Background

The conflict between Japan and Russia, though it burst upon the world with explosive suddenness, really issues from a background of chronic friction between the two states. But the present undeclared war has a particular genesis that is worthy of study.

On July 11, when the Russians first seized territory that Japan considered her own, war between the estranged powers seemed imminent. But Tokyo bowed to the ultimatum issued by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign secretary, and for the first time in recent years, shrunk from enforcing her claims by resort to arms.

Chagrined by this turn of events, Japanese military authorities resolved to carry on all later negotiations with Russia in the disputed area by themselves. This was done. The government, trapped in the Chinese conflict, found it imprudent or unsafe to check its military officials or restrain their brazen conduct. Reports show that the Russian detachments were just as eager for a showdown. So the fight began, growing swiftly from a small border fracas to a struggle of acute peril to the peace of the Pacific—and perhaps of Europe.

Western observers have wondered why Japan should tackle Russia at the same time as she grapples with an aroused China, and why Russia should have accepted the grand assizes of war as the best method of dealing with her potent neighbor. The answer is that both countries were dragged into a struggle neither planned nor premeditated, by a war machine for whose actions Japan is accountable but whose deeds it could not control.

Editorial Notes

"Corrigan ism" is spreading. A local radio announcer said on Tuesday night: ". . . You have been listening to Richard Tenor, Tauber."

Japan's population increased last year by 972,835, which works out at 13.6 new babies to each 1000 people. In most western countries the rate is half that, or less. The figures supply the basic reason for Japan's policy of aggression. There as elsewhere "the hand that rocks the cradle" rules. It seems a paradox, but is literally true, that if there were fewer babies there would be fewer wars—because less urge to grab territory.

Cardinal Villeneuve, of Quebec, speaks with reason when he says publicity given to a spectacular suicide may inject the suicide idea into weak minds and lead to other occurrences of the kind. But what can be done about it? When a man leaps from a 17-storey building that is news, and it is news the reading public demand and pay for. Nor can anyone say that without the publicity, the potential suicide would not become a real one.

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON, Eng.—(By Mail)—It is estimated that Germany has at least 100,000 civilians who have been trained as air pilots. At present Great Britain has no such reserve to fall back upon, but Sir Kingsley Wood proposes to remedy this.

J. E. NORCROSS

Sir Kingsley succeeded Lord Swinton at the Air Ministry only a very few months ago, but he has already made his mark there in more than one direction. His latest plan shows the advantage of bringing a fresh mind to bear on national problems in critical hours.

There are about 75 light airplane clubs in this country and Sir Kingsley is taking advantage of the machinery thus to hand to form what is to be known as a Civil Air Guard.

These clubs are to be subsidized so that they may undertake the tuition of applicants at low rates. At present it costs from $7.50 to $10 an hour to learn to fly and the average course is of 16 hours' duration.

This is to be reduced to 60 cents an hour for lighter airplanes and $1.20 for standard training machines. Once having obtained their certificates the members of the Civil Air Guard will be enabled to retain their membership of the airplane clubs and to keep up their practice at nominal rates.

There is to be no limit. Sir Kingsley invites all fit citizens, men and women alike, between the ages of 18 and 50, to take advantage of the opportunity to learn to fly, regardless of what it will cost in subsidies to the clubs.

There is only one obligation. Members of the Civil Air Guard will be required to sign an undertaking to offer their services at once in any state of national emergency for employment in Royal Air Force duties or in any other direction concerned with aviation.

The response has been immediate and amazing. Already the airplane clubs are overwhelmed with applications, nearly one-third of them from women, indicating the extent to which the nation has become air-minded.

Moreover, the chance to become air-pilots seems to appeal, in particular, to middle-aged people. As regards the younger men fears have been expressed that the new plan may prove so attractive as to add to the difficulty in obtaining recruits for other auxiliary services. A young man who has his living to earn will hardly have leisure for, say, the Territorial Army, and the Civil Air Guard may, at any rate thought, however, that it will affect recruiting for the Royal Air Force, which appeals to men who seek full-time employment.

Central administration of the Civil Air Guard is to be undertaken by five honorary commissioners, with the Marquess of Londonderry as Chief Commissioner. One of them will be a woman and another a Scottish representative.

Obviously there will be a greatly increased demand for light airplanes and to meet this the importation of foreign planes is to be permitted for the time being.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

So much could be said about the health-building properties of the tomato that it is hard to compress it all into a short space, but in today's article I shall try to give you the most important points.

The tomato is an excellent source of vitamin C, ranking as one of the best sources of this vitamin, which is needed to prevent scurvy, to maintain the health of the blood vessels, to keep the gums healthy, and to favor good tooth formation. This vitamin is also of value in improving the appetite. One of the merits of the tomato as a source of vitamin C is that it is so comparatively cheap and abundant that it is available to the average person. This is especially true during the summer when the crop is plentiful; but the tomato is also obtainable at other seasons by making use of the canned form.

The tomato also supplies vitamins A and B1. In addition it provides the valuable mineral elements so necessary to the body, and is classed with the alkaline-forming group of foods. The mild acid of the tomato apparently has a very beneficial effect upon the liver in the way of stimulating a better flow of bile. Hence, those with a tendency toward sluggishness of this organ will do well to use tomatoes more freely.

Insoluble acid of the tomato, it seems to assist in the digestion of fish, it is a good plan to serve a tomato salad, or a dish of stewed tomatoes when serving a fish meal.

Because of the low caloric value, the tomato may be advantageously used in reducing diets.

Fortunately, the flavor of the tomato is one which is widely liked and the flavor has probably helped to increase the popularity of this health-builder. Most people find the red color attractive, whether the food is used alone or is added to salads. Not the least of its virtues as far as the busy housewife is concerned, is its ease of preparation. The raw tomato is quickly sliced or cubed for salad use, and even when preparing stewed tomatoes, not much time is needed, as they quickly become tender. The canned tomato juice is one of the easiest of all beverages to serve as all that you need to do is to punch two holes in the top of the can and pour it out.

I find the canned tomato juice is often beneficial in a fasting regimen, the patient getting considerable good from a schedule of this kind. Even those who are working and who do not have the time to squeeze out orange juice for the fruit drink as one may be able to take a can or two of tomato juice to work with them, and to use the juice very easily at regular times. This same tomato juice in the canned form is being widely used in the diets of infants.

Because of the flavor readily blending with other foods, the tomato is a favored fruit for adding to soups, stews, and various meat dishes. Both meat and fish may be cooked in tomato juice or tomato sauce, for added flavor.

Most people probably place the tomato in the vegetable class, but I find it best to group it with the acid fruits. Because of the mild acid content, it does not combine readily with starches. The tomato therefore may be used with benefit with a meat meal, with a fish meal, or with the non-starchy vegetables.

Those wishing to know how the tomato juice is used in the fasting regimen are welcome to send for my article on The Tomato Juice Fast. Forward your request to me and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Iceland and the Future

The visit to Winnipeg of a former cabinet minister of Iceland, Jonas Jonsson, draws attention to the remarkable development of the island country in the North Atlantic, and the happy contrast between its peaceful isolation and the anxieties of the rest of Europe.

Situated as it is outside of the great steamship lanes and with its roots deep in the past, Iceland within the next few years may become a stopping-off place for trans-Atlantic air passengers moving between the Old World and the New.

A writer in the New York Times, Harold Butcher, predicts that the summer tourist of the near future who is seeking a land where there is neither war nor rumor of war will look toward this lonely island in the Arctic Circle as a country where he may rough it a bit, ride ponies over grass and lava fields, climb mountains, fish for salmon and trout, and visit glaciers and geysers.

The airplane, of course, will make this ever more likely. But even without the airplane increasingly large groups of students from Oxford and Cambridge universities have been visiting Iceland each summer for the past few years. They have been attracted there by the geological wonders of the country and the charm of its inhabitants.

In Iceland, claimed by some to be the birthplace of Leif Ericsson who discovered America in the year 1,000, one moves among an ancient people, descendants of the Vikings. Most of the 120,000 inhabitants came from Norway, while those who came from the British Isles (mostly from Scotland, Ireland and the Hebrides) were or Norwegian descent. Mr. Butcher describes the men as tall, sturdy, courageous, and their wives and daughters as comely and strong, independent and capable.

Most Icelanders live either by fishing or farming. The farms are remote but hospitable. To the travellers they are hostels where one can find food and rest and shelter from wind and rain. The raising of sheep has always been an important industry, and some of the old chieftains used to own very large flocks. Today sheep number 856,000 and make up nearly 80 per cent of the country's exports.

This year Iceland celebrates twenty years of independence as a nation. She is united with Denmark only in sharing the same king—Christian X. "Between 1940 and 1943," writes Mr. Butcher, "she must decide whether she will continue this arrangement, become completely independent, or, perhaps, join with the British Commonwealth of Nations."

This is a fascinating suggestion. Without maintaining that it is likely to come about, this much can be said: the Icelandic people have proved one of the finest stocks in Canada and if Iceland ever did wish to join the Commonwealth it would surely be a welcome acquisition. —Winnipeg Tribune.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

This day, one hundred years ago (Aug. 11, 1838), was a day of doom in the old courthouse at Niagara, for then the death sentence was passed upon 12 participants in the raid on the Short Hills in June. Alexander McLeod, in his "Notes of an Exile," thus gave the sentence of the court:

"The sentence of this court is that you, Samuel Chandler, Benjamin Wait, Alexander McLeod, James Gemmell, John Grant, Murdock McFadden, John James McNulty, David Taylor, James Waggoner, Garret Van Camp, John Vernon and George Buck, and each of you, be taken to the jail from whence you came and that on the 25th day of the present month of August you, and each of you, be drawn on a hurdle to the place of execution, and that you be there hanged by the neck until you are dead. Then your bodies are to be quartered and may God have mercy on your souls."

Linus W. Miller, one of the Americans also sentenced that day, declared that several of the spectators responded with a hearty Amen to the last expression, while many burst into tears, including some of the officers who had the men in charge. None of these men, however, was destined to die upon the gallows. Mrs. Wait and Chandler's daughter, raised funds and left at once for Quebec to see Lord Durham. They returned home Aug. 22, believing their mission had succeeded, but it was not until 12:30 on the 25th, just 30 minutes before the hour set for the multiple hangings, that official word was received that the men had been respited to Oct. 1. Before that date it was announced that all the sentences had been commuted to imprisonment for life in the penal colony of Van Dieman's Land.

That fall the "Patriots" were taken to Liverpool, England, for some months and then to Portsmouth, where they were herded with the "scum of Britain" in two of the convict ships, conditions on which were so vile that out of 240 on Wait's ship only 105 remained alive at Hobart Town. Three of the Canadians, McLeod, Van Camp and McNulty, died soon after arrival there. Chandler and Wait, after being given tickets of leave, stole a whale boat for a day's fishing and after several days hanging about were picked up by an American whaler and brought back to America, returning to Niagara Falls, N.Y., in mid-July, 1842. Gemmell escaped on an American whaler. Most of the others, as well as those implicated in the Windsor border raids, came back by degrees, but some are unaccounted for, and it is believed that they made their way to the gold fields in Victoria, Australia.

"Most discriminating seamen and sea lovers will agree that Joseph Conrad was the supreme interpreter of the moods and lives of the men who served the sea in the days of sail.

"There is no doubt that Conrad also loved the Thames. He had no ties there but he deliberately chose London as his 'home port' and lived there between voyages. Prior to joining the famous passenger and wool clipper Torrens as chief officer he was for a short spell the manager of a Thameside warehouse. Torrens discharged in the London dock and up to comparatively recent times, Conrad was well remembered by at least one of the dock officials on the North Quay.

Proofs?

Editor, Bulletin: Can some of your readers explain this phenomenon for me? As I lay asleep in my bed one night, alone and in a closed room, some one whispered into my right ear, telling me, your grandfather is very sick. I received a letter soon after telling me of his death. I was then 25 years of age and in a strange country and among strangers, and my grandparents were the last people I was ever given to think about at that time.

I have had other warnings of my people passing away. These messages have convinced me of a hereafter.

That Hen-Egg Problem

Editor, Bulletin: I see the puzzle fans are getting busy again. Will you allow an old chicken raiser to tell you the answer to that hen-egg puzzle.

If a chicken and a half lays an egg and a half in a day and a half, six hens in seven days will lay just 24 eggs. The reason is simple:

Each hen will lay one egg in a day and a half. There, at the end of 36 hours there will be six eggs.

In another 36 hours there will be 12 eggs, and so on to the end of the sixth day, when there will be 24 eggs.

No eggs at all will be laid on the seventh day, since no self-respecting hen ever laid two-thirds of an egg.

Therefore, at the end of the seventh day there would still be only 24 eggs.

To the Point

Editor, Bulletin: Dr. Manion, the new Conservative leader, states that "the reactionary capitalists are more dangerous than the Communists." If he is alluding to the state, the British Empire, there is not much doubt that he is correct. There is evidence of danger to capitalism while the so-called Communist party exists, that is to say from that quarter.

They are administering capitalism in Russia in their own ruthless and peculiar way and they strive, by means of "popular fronts" which include all and sundry—capitalists, priests and workers, which are a heterogeneous mass who would reform capitalism but not abolish it.

The Socialist Standard, July, 1938, informs the world that "the Communist party is committed to a policy of advocating the military alliance of Britain, France and Russia." This has been interpreted by one British Communist (T. A. Jackson) as willingness to defend the British Empire. So Mr. Manion's statement seems to be, in a large measure, to the point.

Bushel for Bushel

Editor, Bulletin: It is good to read in the Bulletin's editorial that "The Wheat Board Will Buy" and that "The farmer will thus have two choices when selling time comes."

Eastern Canadians have gradually been pushed to the conclusion (by the events of the depression years) that there is an unusually close link between a prosperous west and busy factories this side of the lakes.

I really think that, at last, our people realize that ruining the farmer is both unwise and very costly to public treasuries in both east and west.

There is one point which was brought up in the house of commons by E. E. Perley (Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan) the other day, about which I would appreciate being permitted to say a commending word. The member was drawing parliament's attention to the cost of "relief seed wheat." He was not particularly emphasizing the money cost per se (i.e., $1.40) but pointed out that the farmers involved would need to return between two and three 1938 bushels in settlement of said "relief seed" aid on a price level of around 60c net at the country elevator.

As these same men happen to be financially "the weakest of the flock," it seems to this reader that the government of Canada would be interpreting public opinion by a technique of settlement for this "relief" grain on a bushel-for-bushel basis, for the top grade of the grain.

I am not familiar with the contractual terms involved as to the repayment of these seed "advances." Probably repayment is set out in terms of $1.45 wheat. If so, repayment in full from the 1938 crop might be rather burdensome. The bushel-for-bushel settlement basis would, at least, have one merit: it would be a settlement, and the transaction could be written off—at a definite money cost to the treasury. The other method would involve large bookkeeping expenditures, inevitable future losses and costs, and some very real present hardships to the farmers in question.

Douglas Never in Party

Editor, Bulletin: Recent press despatches from England would lead one to believe that Major C. H. Douglas has been ousted from the leadership of the Social Credit party of Great Britain. I would like to correct this.

At no time has Major Douglas been connected with the Social Credit "Party" of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Speaking generally, Major Douglas is opposed to "party" politics, as such, and contends that each representative at parliament should be responsible to his constituents, and not to any subsidized party caucus.

Major Hargraves, on the other hand, a virile and staunch supporter of the Douglas monetary proposals, is out for direct political "party" action. Mr. Hargraves founded the party and has been its leader ever since, so did not oust Major Douglas. Members of the Social Credit Secretariat, London, England, which includes people in all countries of the British Empire and is by far the greater portion of the movement recently endorsed the policy of the Secretariat and the administration of Major Douglas by a 99 per cent vote of approval.

The Saskatchewan "triumph," which divided the home quarters, does not rest on the two seats gained, but on the 70,000 odd votes that were given to Social Credit candidates in complete ruin, while all other parties registered losses.

Hungary Completes Wheat Deal With Italy

BRITISH CASH BID FOR GRAIN TURNED DOWN

Hungarians Chiefly Paid In Raw Materials For Wheat

ROME, Aug. 11.—Hungarian sources said Italy Wednesday concluded conferences with a Hungarian grain delegation which agreed to sell Italy more than 2,566,000 bushels of wheat.

These sources said Italy bought 8,500,000 bushels in June, and may buy still more by the end of this month.

BUMPER CROP

Possibility of future sales was said to be based on the fact Hungary has a bumper crop, and that her warehouses are overflowing.

Italy, having adequate storage facilities, was said to be considering buying still more of the Hungarian surplus to hold over for next year.

They said Italy had agreed to pay one-third in cash and two-thirds in raw materials and industrial products. The price was understood to be 14 pengoes per quintal, or about 75 cents a bushel.

POLITICS ENTER TRADE

Hungary, it was said, agreed for political reasons to sell from her surplus to Italy and Germany, which also would pay at least partly in goods even though British buyers sought to take the entire amount available paying cash.

The grain must be delivered to Italy by Sept. 20 and to Germany by Sept. 10, the Hungarian sources said.

75 HORSES DEAD FROM DISEASE; WORK AFFECTED

Coronation district farmers are facing a horse shortage for the harvest operations, so great has been the death and sickness toll amongst farm horses from encephalomelitis.

More than 75 horses have died from the effects of this dread sleeping sickness disease in horses, and hundreds of others have been rendered useless for farm work for the time being through its effects, according to statements by residents of that district.

Numbers of horses have been cured by the use of Glauber salts and cold water solution, a cure recommended by the provincial department of agriculture. The disease is also serious at Castor, Consort and other eastern Alberta points.

UNITY LEAGUE FORMS BRANCH AT COCHRANE

Bow Valley Also Organizes —Four Constituencies In Alberta

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—Organization of the Cochrane constituency Unity Association was completed at a meeting here Wednesday.

Following an address by John J. McFarland, chairman of the Alberta Unity Council (provisional), Howard P. Wright, Airdrie district farmer, was elected chairman of the newly-formed association.

COLLICUT ELECTED

Frank Collicut of Crossfield was elected as the constituency representative on the Unity Council, a position which he had formerly held provisionally. A slate of 15 directors was named to represent all districts within the Cochrane riding.

The Cochrane constituency is the fourth to be organized under the new unity movement. Previously the Cypress Hills and Okotoks-High River ridings completed constituency unity organizations and Wednesday afternoon the Bow Valley Unity Association was formed at a 'meeting in Bassano, 90 miles east of Calgary.

At the Bassano meeting, Dr. A. G. Scott was appointed chairman. A Bow Valley riding representative to the Unity Council will be named at a meeting planned for October 2.

MANION FINDS ANCIENT ADAGE TO BE CORRECT

BARRY'S BAY, Ont. Aug. 11.—Hon. R. J. Manion told a story here Wednesday demonstrating that nowhere is a prophet so much without honor as in his native town.

Addressing a church picnic, the National Conservative leader said that shortly after his election to the leadership at the Ottawa convention July 7 he visited his native town.

From several persons he inquired the location of the house in which he, Dr. Manion was born. None knew it and none recognized him. Finally he asked an old man, who replied:

"Who's Dr. Manion? Never heard of him."

Toronto City Council to Explore Padlock Law and Prevent C.C.F. Meeting

NEW TORONTO, Aug. 11.—The council of this Toronto suburb can be 'rough, tough and nasty when it wants to" and will enforce its "padlock by-law" despite criticism, Councillor J. V. Shelley said Wednesday in a prepared statement. He added he was speaking in behalf of other members of council.

The full weight of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will insist upon its West York branch being allowed to hold a meeting here on the night of Aug. 12, its officials said. Town council refused Monday night the C.C.F. application for a municipal permit to hold Friday night's meeting in Prince of Wales park here.

C.C.F. officials said they would proceed with the meeting, designed as a test case upon the validity of the "padlock" by-law passed a few weeks ago. It prohibits use of sound trucks on the streets, distribution of handbills or displaying of placards or the holding of meetings "intended to arouse" the public.

"There is no C.C.F. group in this town and these men are known agitators," said Councillor Shelley. "If they are coming to New Toronto looking for trouble, then they certainly picked the right spot. We have dealt with some tough situations before, stirred up by outside agitators, and we'll handle them the same way in the future."

"Our police will be on hand to form the reception committee and any attempts to hold the meeting in defiance of the edict of council will be met. The speakers and leaders will promptly be arrested and the crowd, if any, dispersed."

The executive of the C.C.F. said in a formal statement: "It is absurd for council members to talk about out-of-town dictators. The request for the permit was made by the West York C.C.F. executive and New Toronto is part of the West York riding."

"The C.C.F. has resolved to hold the open air meeting to assert the right of free speech and free assembly."

EX-POLICEMAN REPUDIATES KILL CHARGES

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 11.—Point by point, Francis M. Carroll Wednesday repudiated 19-year-old Paul N. Dwyer's declaration the former deputy sheriff killed elderly Dr. James G. Littlefield and his wife.

The 43-year-old Carroll, on trial for the country doctor's murder, contended he knew nothing of the bizarre crimes until after Dwyer had been arrested in North Arlington, N.J., and had confessed them both.

A friend corroborated part of Carroll's story.

Dwyer, former sweetheart of Carroll's pretty 18-year-old daughter, Barbara, pleaded guilty to Dr. Littlefield's murder and became a "fifer." Now, he charges Carroll with both killings.

RED DEER

RAINFALL HEAVY AT WEEK'S END

Recent rainfalls at Red Deer probably broke all previous records here. From midnight Saturday until midnight Sunday the gauge at the city hall registered 6.07 inches with .62 inches for the 24-hour period previous. Old-time residents do not recall a heavier and more steady downpour. City workmen and many citizens were busy most of Monday pumping out basements. There was from a few inches to several feet of water in most uptown basements, and property damage from water and mud was considerable in some cases.

LOUGHEED—Lougheed and district welcomed a heavy rainfall on Saturday, when it rained heavily all day. It started to rain again on Sunday evening and continued throughout the night. The added moisture was needed, although it will keep back the farmers who have already started to cut their early crops or who intended to start cutting the first of this week.

The farmers will be cutting their hay soon, and it is expected that cutting will be general about the end of the week or the first of next, if the weather remains favorable.

Hawaiian Stage Revue at Strand Friday-Saturday

The Strand Theatre today becomes the host of soothing melodies played on steel-stringed instruments or sung by soft-voiced natives as Robert Bell's group of Hawaiians opens its road show engagement.

In the several years Bell, himself one of Honolulu's well-known entertainers, has been bringing these native singers, dancers and instrumentalists to the mainland he has won a popular reputation for providing South Sea Island entertainment direct from the islands. This show of ten featured acts comes similarly well recommended.

Old and new versions of the hula hula are to be offered, along with such other terpsichorean numbers as the Hawaiian rhumba. And on the screen, Stuart Erwin in "Passport Husband," and also news and novelty.

Dorothy Reed Becomes Bride Of John Tuck

St. Stephen's chapel at half after eight o'clock on Wednesday evening was the scene of a pretty wedding when Miss Dorothy Helena Reed of Edmonton became the bride of Mr. John Tuck of Toronto.

U. OF A. GRADUATES

University of Alberta, social and business circles find much interest in the ceremony for both bride and bridegroom are graduates of the university and have many friends in over-town sets. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Reed of Edmonton and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce.

The bridegroom, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Tuck, also of Edmonton, is a graduate of the law faculty of the university, and a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Sprays of colorful gladioli blooms arranged throughout the tiny chapel made a fragrant setting for the ceremony and Dr. William M. Grant of Metropolitan United church was the officiating clergyman.

CLASSIC FROCK

Gown of lustre white satin fashioned on youthful lines was the pretty frock the bride chose for her marriage. Long tapering sleeves, flattering neckline and a row of tiny buttons sewn from the collar to the hem line at the back were attractive features of the dress. A coronet of seed pearls at her head held in place the mist-white bridal veil of tulle that fell softly about the bride's shoulders, and for her flowers she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

GOWNED SIMILARLY

Attending the bride were Mrs. Arthur Wilson, matron of honor, and Miss Hazel Brown, bridesmaid. Similarly fashioned jacket frocks of chiffon—daffodil yellow for Mrs. Wilson and blue for Miss Brown—were the dainty dresses they wore for the occasion. Hats and accessories matched the color of the frocks, and their flowers were colonial bouquets of gladioli blossoms and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Archibald Dickson was groomsman.

During the signing of the register Miss Violet Cummings sang sweetly accompanied by Mr. Mawer, who played the wedding marches.

AT THE MACDONALD

Following the ceremony a reception to the wedding guests was held at the Macdonald hotel where, welcoming her guests Mrs. William Reed, mother of the bride, was charmingly frocked in a floor length gown of bisque lace. Her accessories, picture hat and gloves were in pink and her corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. John A. Tuck, mother of the bridegroom, chose a French model of black flowered chiffon, with accessories in sand. Her flowers were a corsage of talisman roses.

Tiered bride's cake, surrounded by flowers in pink and white, centred the attractively arranged reception table. Pink tapers matched the flowers.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Tuck left for a wedding trip to Jasper and to the Pacific coast.

Returning east, they will, following their wedding trip, continue on to Toronto where they will make their home.

MRS. JOHN TUCK

who before her pretty wedding in St. Stephen's Chapel in Garneau on Wednesday evening was Miss Dorothy Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Reed of Edmonton. Both the bride and the bridegroom, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Tuck, also of this city, are graduates of the University of Alberta and well known in both campus and social circles. Following their wedding trip to Jasper and the Pacific coast, Mr. and Mrs. Tuck will take up residence in Toronto.

Alpinists To Explore Site For 1939 Camp

Anticipating already their mountain holiday for the summer of 1939, a party of club officials of the Alpine Club of Canada, headed by Mr. Cyril G. Wates of Edmonton, president of the club, will leave Saturday for the Ice River Valley, Yoho, B.C. In the party will be, besides Mr. Wates, Miss Helen Burns, president of the Edmonton section, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ballance, Calgary and Major W. R. Tweedy of Vancouver.

To be situated in the beautiful country between Field and Golden, in British Columbia, the camp will be amid peaks, the height of which will be the north and south towers of the Goodsirs. The highest of the peaks is rated as the eighth highest in the Rockies. Hiking for the party will be by motor to Leanchoil, and they will spend several days exploring the site.

Four Edmonton girls—Miss Kathleen Chapman of the University hospital, Miss Jean McDonald of the University of Alberta's registrar's staff, Miss Cora Sutter and Miss Dorothy Hartley—were among the party of eleven climbers who scaled, during their recent camp in the mountains, North Twin Mountain, an altitude of 12,085 feet. This was the first time in the history of mountain climbing in the Rockies that women have climbed peaks over 12,000 feet high.

Relatives from out-of-town points in attendance at the Munn-Chisholm wedding on Wednesday included Mr. and Mrs. C. McLachlan, aunt and uncle of the bride, Miss Sadie McLachlan, Mr. Charles McLachlan, Jr., and Mrs. H. C. Davis, cousin of the bride, all of Vancouver.

Choker Collars Complement Increasingly Popular Upswept Coiffures

Chic headlines from the Paris fall collections include, from top to bottom, choker collar, edged with ruching, to wear with the increasingly popular upswept coiffures; a long, thin fur muff, tied around the middle with a bright velvet bow; flowers, dripping out of pockets, used to enliven a black coat; a fur hat which can be worn as a scarf.

Veteran Club Worker To Be Honoree At Farewell Social

To say good-bye to her on the eve of her departure, to wish her all happiness in her new home in Vancouver and to express something of the appreciation felt for her generous and active contribution to women's club life in Edmonton, a number of women's organizations in Edmonton are gathering to honor Mrs. Jeanette Mason at an attractively arranged affair in the Old Mill Hall, 102 avenue, on Friday evening of this week.

Mrs. Mason has for many years taken an interest in the life and development of women's clubs in the city, and her departure will occasion much regret among her many city friends.

She is one of the founders of the Edmonton Mothers' Council for the Protection of youth, and this year has taken an active part in preparation of the Better Health Camp now in progress at Lac Ste. Anne.

The many friends of Mrs. Mason are invited to be present at the social evening planned in her honor on Friday evening.

Soap And Water Helps Correct An Oily Skin

Bulletin Patterns

By ALICIA HART

Soap and water are the best friends of the girl whose skin is excessively oily. She should wash her face at least twice a day, and, between times, use a non-greasy cleaner. She can, if she likes, apply cleansing cream, but she certainly should not use it after or instead of plenty of warm water and soap.

Also, she ought to buy and use regularly and correctly at least one preparation designed especially to correct oiliness. This may be a medicated night cream or a morning lotion or a special astringent or a circulation cream. Whatever it is, she should get it from the skin specialist to whom her family doctor sends her, then apply it strictly according to directions.

Undoubtedly, she'll need some kind of powder base, too. Perhaps a liquid powder lotion or a vanishing cream. Generally speaking, she'll find dry rouge more satisfactory than the cream varieties. And her powder ought to be a light-textured one which won't cake easily.

Hard little lumps which often form beneath the surface of oily skin ought to be squeezed gently the day they are discovered and, the next day, squeezed again and removed. Otherwise, they may just remain below the surface, making the face look ridged and bumpy. After squeezing, a good antiseptic should be patted on the irritated spots.

One who is serious about avoiding further formation of such lumps certainly will get a great deal of daily exercise and, in addition, use a mask, or some other circulation stimulant once or twice a week. Poor circulation often is the cause of clogged pores.

If you have the kind of oily skin which isn't too sensitive, you might use a complexion brush instead of a wash cloth. If it is sensitive, consider one of the new facial sponges.

Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

Contrary to general belief, there are probably no birds which habitually refuse to mate a second time if anything happens to the first mate. Some swans, eagles and wild geese pair off rather permanently, but if one dies, the other usually does not remain "single" the rest of life, but usually obtains another mate quite soon after losing the first one. It is chiefly in stories that birds refuse to ever mate again when a mate dies, and some rare cases of this may have been observed, but it is not usual. Many kinds of birds mate several times in one season.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Morrick Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

HAYWIRE HOUSE By Edwin Rutt

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KINKAID PARKER, hero; handsome, jobless, he has just inherited half-interest in a vacant Connecticut home.

SALLY PENNINGTON, heroine; blond, pretty, she has inherited the other half of the house. Together they turn it into a "Restatorium."

Yesterday: The Harkneeses arrive and then Kinks gets his second surprise. Sally tells him that she will probably marry Wilton Ames.

CHAPTER V

THE Harkness suitcases tumbled from Kink's arms. For a moment he stared blankly at Sally. Then he shook his head.

"Lady," he said, "you're all wet. You're not going to marry some blemish named Wilton."

"For your information," said Sally, coldly, "Wilton Ames is not a blemish. He's in the bank here and doing very well, too."

"Okay, okay. I didn't impugn his financial status. I merely said that you weren't going to marry him."

"And just who are you to decide that?"

"Me?" said Kinks. "Don't you know me? I'm the guy you are going to marry."

She looked at him as if he were an escaped lunatic.

"Stop babbling," she said, "and take those bags upstairs. The Harknesses will want their things."

Kinks retrieved the fallen luggage.

"Look here," he said. "This carbuncle Wilton Ames must be something to the great at the bank. You know, the one who holds the mortgage on this place."

"He's his son," said Sally. "So what?"

"So if this Wilton thinks enough of you to want to marry you, he ought to be able to get his old man to extend the time of the interest payment."

* * *

Sally shook her head doubtfully. "I don't think he could. You don't know Spencer Ames. He's as hard as nails. And I—well, I think he's got some sort of interest in this place."

"What makes you think that?" Kinks asked quickly.

"Well, it's only a hunch. But just after your aunt died, Spencer Ames came out here. There was another man with him. And they seemed to be looking the place over."

"What reason did Ames give for coming?"

"Oh, he made a great show of wanting to know how I was getting on and whether I was all right, and while he was doing that, the other man kept in the background. But when we'd finished talking, they didn't leave right away. I saw them through the window. And they—they went snooping around the grounds."

"Snooped, did they?" said Kinks. "And you want to marry a guy whose father is a professional snooper?"

"Don't be silly. Wilton is very different from Mr. Ames."

"Like father, like son," quoted Kinks.

"Please take those bags up," said Sally.

KINKAID PARKER

Sally. "Now that you've brought those people to the house, you'll have to pay some attention to them."

When Kinks came back there was a concerned look on his face.

"We're going to have to watch our darkness," he said, "or we'll all be electrocuted. He's got a couple of suitcases full of electrical gadgets. And he's already begun to tamper with the wiring in his room."

"Well, I don't know what we can do about it," said Sally. "The customer is always right, isn't he?"

"Guess so," said Kinks. "Well, come on, beautiful. You're driving me to the station."

"Station? What on earth for?"

"I'm going to New York," Kinks announced. "I'll check out of the place I live, get some things and be back bright and early tomorrow. I suppose we can both live under this roof. There seem to be plenty of chaperones."

"You would do something like that," wailed Sally. "You saddle me with two strangers and then leave me to cope with the situation."

Kinks addressed the elk's head.

"The modern girl can't take it," he said sadly. "Even the woman's great - great - grandmother probably resided in a covered wagon and dodged tomahawks while scrambling eggs. And here's her descendant all unstuck by a couple of extra guests for dinner.

"Oh, shut up," said Sally Pennington.

Kinks did not quite make good his threat to get back to the Preston place bright and early the following day. True, he returned to Winstock on a morning train. But upon arriving he spent several hours in the village. His ambition was some form of advertisement which would announce the existence of the Pennington-Parker Restatorium and he finally ferreted out a man of many accomplishments who listed sign-painting among them.

And while Kinks was standing over this gentleman superintending the preparation of the sign, a two-man conference was going on in the First National Bank of Winstock, Connecticut.

Mr. Spencer Ames was a grizzled individual of 60-odd, with pale, cold eyes. He had a thick body, huge shoulders and a neck which bulged around his collar in a role of red flesh. But his obesity was mere camouflage for a mind as sharp as a whip. Spencer Ames never missed a trick.

He was looking across his desk now, searching the countenance of his son, Wilton.

"What's all this that's going on at the Preston place?" he inquired.

Wilton shrugged. He was a thick-set young man who, as yet, had not taken on his father's corpulence. But he had the same cold eyes, colored a light blue. His hair was straight and brownish, parted carefully in the middle.

"Search me," he said. "I didn't know anything was."

"Then you don't keep your ears open," said his father sharply. "It's all over the village that the Pennington girl has taken in boarders."

Wilton sat up in his chair. "Boarders?"

Spencer Ames nodded.

"Old Cale Kenworthy," he said, "talks too much. Always did. And that Clipstack woman that works down at Preston's told me all the gossip. Well, it seems she talked to Giles, the grocer, yesterday afternoon and who did Kenworthy talked to, I wouldn't know. But what they said got back to me. And"—he chuckled—"I thought you'd like to want to keep informed about what goes on at the Preston place."

"Well, what was it they said?" Wilton asked.

Spencer Ames lit a cigar.

"Here are the facts," he said. "That nephew of Mrs. Pennington's who inherited a half interest in her estate, finally showed up yesterday. He and the Pennington girl settled on Kenworthy. Just what was said over there, I don't know. But by nightfall there were two other people at the Preston house and from Clipstack woman told Giles that they're going to board there. Who they are or what they're come from, I haven't any idea. But . . . well, what do you make of it, Wilton?"

Wilton looked blank. "Nothing. It doesn't mean a thing to me."

"It ought to," said his father half-jocularly. "It ought to upset you even. I thought you were sweet on the Pennington girl."

Wilton began dimly to see daylight.

"You—you mean," he ejaculated, "that this nephew of Mrs. Preston's is going to board there, too?"

Spencer nodded. "So I am given to understand."

"Well," said Wilton, starting to his feet, "I'm going down there and find out about this."

"Not so fast," said Spencer. "I've one or two things to say to you, Wilton." He put the tips of his fingers together and looked at his son. "As you know, we hold a mortgage on the Preston property."

"So what?" said Wilton inelegantly.

"So," said Mr. Ames, "I am very much interested in finding out whether or not this young man, whose name is Parker I believe, is in a position to continue the interest and amortization payments."

"And if he is or isn't?"

Mr. Ames let the cigar in an ash tray and studied it.

"If he is," he said, "I shall have to do a good deal more thinking about the mortgage. If he isn't . . . well, I shall be very much pleased, that's all."

"Listen," said Wilton, a little irritably, "I'm not getting this. What does the Preston place mean to you, anyway?"

His father's keen eyes shone with their cold light.

"Just this," he said. "A few weeks ago a representative of Farnsworth Hotels, Incorporated, of New York called on me. He was interested in possible sites for country hotels or inns. Well, I took him over to Preston's. He thinks his firm will want to buy it, that's all."

Delight Your Children With These Tasty Jams

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Peaches, apricots and pears are just as delicious in jam. Give the little sweetes a chance.

BAKED PEACH AND ORANGE JAM
(About 2 pints)

Two medium oranges. 1 lemon. 1 dozen fresh peaches. sugar.

Cut unpeeled lemon and oranges in pieces and put through food grinder. Peel and slice peaches. Combine fruit. Measure and add an equal amount of sugar. Place in a shallow pan and bake 2 hours in slow oven (300 degrees F.). Stir occasionally.

Cooking time may be shortened somewhat by making this jam on top of stove in preserving kettle. Cook slowly and stir frequently to prevent scorching. Cook to jam consistency. Turn into jars and seal.

CITROUS AND APRICOT JAM
(4 pints)

Four pounds ripe apricots. 3 oranges. 1 lemon. water. sugar.

Grind or shred very fine the unpeeled oranges and lemon. Measure and add 6 times as much water as fruit. Boil in uncovered kettle 1 hour or until reduced about one-half. Add apricots which have been peeled and cut in halves. Cook until of jam consistency, stirring frequently to prevent burning.

Add ¾ cup sugar for each cup cooked fruit and cook again, preferably in deep pan, to desired thickness. Turn into jars and seal.

Little pears can be the spice of life. In a very nice way, of course.

PEAR MARMALADE

Eight pounds under-ripe pears. 8 pounds sugar. 3 lemons, juice and rind, ¼ pound green ginger root.

Use pears that are not quite ripe. Chop fine. Squeeze juice from lemons and cut rinds into small pieces. Peel ginger root and chop fine. Combine ingredients. Stir mixture well and boil until pears have a clear transparent look about 1 hour. Stir frequently. Turn into jars and seal.

What To Do

By Phyllis Belmont

Owing to the fact that my very temperate parents live with us, also that we have a boy and girl in their teens, my wife and I never serve any liquor in our friends. But when we are being entertained I take an occasional cocktail, although my wife remains on the water wagon. She claims that, as people know we do not serve cocktails, we should pass them up in others' homes. What would you consider the correct thing to do?

A CONSTANT READER.

"Answer — Something is wrong somewhere. If you believe in the reasonable use of liquor, then there is no reason why you should not serve it in your own home; and the worst way to bring up children is to deny them at home the experience of seeing things done decently which they are certainly going to see done less well abroad. There certainly is an inconsistency in doing away from home something that you won't permit at home; but that's not to say that it isn't the home ways which should be altered.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

The number of contracts thrown away on the very first play is simply amazing! And the saddest part of it is that this type of error usually springs from the insistence of the average declarer to "get in and start cashing tricks." In short, many players are cursed with an insatiable cash complex. I greatly fear that the contract in today's hand would be muffed from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Cal.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 diamonds	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

The contract certainly was sound and it was too bad that declarer's play left something to be desired.

West opened the heart king and declarer, without moment's thought, pounced on it with the spade nine and drew trumps. He then blithely laid down the ace and king of clubs, only to be brutally awakened from his dream by West's failure to follow to the second round. Unfortunately, there was nothing declarer could do at this stage to save his skin. For want of anything better, he doggedly cashed the rest of his trumps, but no miraculous squeeze could give him relief. Of course, held grimly to his club protection, his hand matching declarer's with three diamonds and two clubs, while West also kept three diamonds and the ace and one heart.

As mentioned above, the contract had been lost on the very first play. I grant that it is a "natural" thing for the declarer to ruff the opening lead, but in bridge the natural impulse must be resisted. There was nothing remote about the break declarer found in the club suit—indeed, mathematically stated, there were 32 chances in 100 that the suit would be cut three by three. The point is, however, that declarer, had a losing diamond in both hands which, obviously, he would have to discard in the end. Then, why not concede it immediately? The result of such concession could not be accurately predicted, but it could do no harm and might be extremely valuable. Actually, it would have salvaged the contract. Let us follow this line of play.

Declarer throws a diamond on the heart king. West shifts to a club and wins and dummy wins. Declarer draws the outstanding trumps then starts to cash the clubs. On the second round West shows out. Declarer persists in cashing the club queen and all his trumps but one. This stage is automatically reached; declarer has one trump, one diamond, and one low club. West must keep the heart ace and, therefore, can keep only the Q-10 of diamonds. Dummy has the heart queen and the A-5 of diamonds. East must hold the club jack and, if declarer cards are the -10 of diamonds. Declarer now cashes the lost trump. West cannot let go the heart ace, hence must reduce to one diamond. Dummy thereupon lets go the heart queen. East cannot relinquish the club jack.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

TRAVELLERS tell us of a tribe in Darkest Africa in which the women are not only permitted to keep one eye open in the presence of men. Well, this is one more eye than girls keep open in the presence of men in this country. At least before marriage. For how else can you account for the many misfit marriages and the hordes of disgruntled wives except on the theory that women never even give the men they marry the once-over before they accompany them to the altar?

Total blindness is the only possible explanation for the men, before and after taking, are just the same. They look just the same. They act the same way. They carry the same line of conversation. They have the same peculiarities and habits and ways all of which stick out like a sore thumb, and the only way a girl can possibly keep from seeing them is to keep her eyes shut tight.

Women are such adepts at camouflaging that a man is virtually forced to buy a pig in a poke when he gets married. He never even knows whether his wife is a blonde or a brunette until he gets her home and she takes off her complexion and the hair dye begins to fade. Every girl before marriage is so mild and meek that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth, so a man has no chance to get a line on her real disposition.

Also, before marriage every girl understudies the role of a man's ideal and what he wants a woman to be. If he is athletic, she tramps miles over the golf links, no matter how she loathes exercise. If he belongs to the intelligentsia, she develops enthusiasm for art and reads high-brow books that bore her to tears. If he is domestic, she buys a ruffled white apron and serves him angel food that she alleges she made with her own hands.

Not even Sherlock Holmes could see through the impenetrable disguise that a girl can slip on at a moment's notice, and so when a man finds out that his wife isn't in the least the sort of woman he thought he was marrying he has an alibi that will stand in any court.

But men take no such trouble to befool women as women do to befool men. They don't have to, for one thing. For another, every man considers himself a matrimonial prize just as he is that any girl is lucky to get. So there he stands with all his faults thick upon him, for her to see if she will only take a second glance his way. And she is to blame, not he, if she doesn't like him when she looks him over after marriage.

DOROTHY DIX.

Sugar Beets Hit By Hailstorms

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 11—Two hundred acres of sugar beets were badly riddled by last Sunday's hailstorm in southern Alberta, a survey made by the company shows. Hailed fields were at Diamond City and Jamieson. The beets were stripped of their leaves, but will come back and be harvested. It takes two weeks to grow a new set of leaves. The hailed acreage is only one per cent of the 20,000 acres sown last spring.

Hanyang Bombed By Jap Warplanes

HANKOW, China, Aug. 11—Twenty-seven Japanese planes bombed industrial and waterfront areas of Hanyang today and dropped explosives in every section of Wuchang, across the Yangtse river from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital.

Fires were started which burned rapidly and a large toll of casualties was considered likely. Observers on Hankow rooftops feared foreign missionary posts in Wuchang were hit.

Simone Simon Sails; Gets Adieu Of Boos

"You're All Washed Up," Scream Fans Who Were Dodged

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Simone Simon, the pert little French actress, was booed by autograph hunters, then got into a wrangle with Internal Revenue agents over her passport and finally sailed on the Normandie with the declaration that she might never return to the United States.

Her troublous day began when she slipped out of her hotel to evade some autograph hunters, but ran into them anyway.

Ignoring their requests, she jumped into an auto and headed for the French Line pier with several disappointed girls screaming, "You're all washed up. Go on back to France. We don't care if you never come back."

At the pier she was confronted by agents who wished to see her income tax receipts and passports.

"It's in my lettle bag. I can not find," she answered.

The agent persisted and Miss Simon got very red and said: "You are veree rude! You do not zink I would run off without paying the money!"

The income tax receipt, she added, was in her passport. "If I sail without that they will send me right back and I do not wish to come back," she continued, heatedly.

Miss Simon's bag, with passport and income tax receipt in it, was found in her cabin and her tax payments were found to be in order.

"I did not pay much," she said, "only $4,000."

Miss Simon's contract with Fox-Twentieth Century recently expired and she does not now have a contract in this country.

O, What A Headache!

Simone Simon holds a fevered brow as she sails to her native France after her experience in the motion picture life of Hollywood. Her farewell was dominated by a revenue agent who wanted to see her income tax receipts and by school girls who booed when she refused them autographs.

FLOW OF GAS ENCOUNTERED AT RANGE NO. 3

Range Oil No. 3 well on Sweetgrass Hills structure which is drilling in search of a further gas supply for export to Great Falls, encountered a flow of 2,500,000 feet of gas in a stray sand, Robert Wilkinson, managing director of the company, has announced.

Drilling is proceeding around 2,600 feet and the main producing horizon should be reached in another 130 feet.

Royalite 31 has been on production since Monday night. Figures should be available within the next day or two.

Royalite 32 is nearing completion at 7,174 feet, a distance of 357 feet in the limestone.

Royalite 33 is very close to the lime at 7,128 feet, and No. 34 is drilling at 2,614 feet. Lethbridge South is again drilling, the depth being over 4,000 feet.

PRODUCTION TO MEET DEMAND BOARD'S AIM

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—"It is the duty of the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board to permit Turner Valley wells to produce sufficient oil to meet the prevailing market demand," W. F. Knode, board chairman, declared here today.

He was commenting on a report the Oil and Gas Producing Company, operators of the second largest oil refinery in Alberta, had been unable to purchase 30,000 barrels of crude for its plant at field price—$1.25 a barrel.

This situation will be adjusted in the near future, Mr. Knode said.

The board at present is making a market survey and on it will be based a schedule of production for Turner Valley wells.

At present the crude wells of Turner Valley which have a potential daily output of 52,000 barrels, are on a 37 per cent proration schedule, based on contracts with the Imperial Oil Limited or the British American Oil Company Limited. The major production companies are under contract to sell their oil to the Imperial or British-American companies.

A. H. Mayland, president of the Oil and Gas Products Company, said his company could obtain supplies from the British American Company but would be obliged to pay a premium over the $1.25 a barrel average field price.

Under the present proration schedule, oil men said the market demand could not be met in Alberta let alone eastern Canada.

Wheat Cutting Will Be General Inside Next Ten Days

NORTH AREAS OF PROVINCE HIT BY HEAT

Crop Conditions Not As Favorable as Short While Ago, Report Says

About half of approximately 30 field days scheduled for Alberta in the crop testing plan now being conducted have already been held, A. T. Sinclair, Winnipeg, assistant director of the plan, said Wednesday as he arrived in Edmonton. Assisted by grain experts of the University of Alberta, Mr. Sinclair is directing the Alberta field days.

Practically all sections of the province report some harvesting and wheat cutting will be general within the next 10 days or two weeks, according to the seventh fortnightly crop report issued by the Alberta department of agriculture, under the direction of Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister in charge.

Crop conditions are not as encouraging as in the last report, the hot, dry weather having taken a heavy toll, particularly in the prescribed drought area, states the report. The northern part of the province also has suffered.

EXTENSIVE NAVIGATION

Irrigated districts show that crops are maturing normally, with good prospects, but the dry weather has necessitated extensive irrigation.

Hail has caused some damage in the Olds area. The heavy rain of the last few days in the central and northern sections will help to fill the crops now maturing and develop all later sown grains.

A good sugar beet crop is expected with forage crops reported heavy in the irrigated districts. Haying is practically completed but rain is required to develop the second crop of alfalfa. All districts will have ample long feed. The recent rain in the northern part of the province will enhance growth of pastures, late crops and greenfeed.

It is of interest to note that 889,759 baby chicks were sold from hatcheries in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge in the last spring, also that the total value of poultry production increased in 1937 over 1936 by $287,000. At present the supply of friers about meets local demands. Birds ranging from nine and one-half to three pounds being offered for sale at 25 cents a pound. Eggs still remain high in price, but this may be eased when the pullets start to lay.

PASTURES HOLDING UP

Conditions in the livestock industry are satisfactory. Pastures holding up well in all districts and recent rains assure ample feed supplies for some time to come. Markets have remained comparatively steady. The stocker and feeder market was active, particularly on stock showing quality. Some decline in hog prices occurred during the last 10 days.

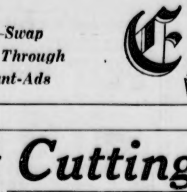

The disease affecting horses appears to be on the decline, but farmers are advised that horses should not be allowed to drink from sloughs.

AMPLE FEED SUPPLIES

The dairy industry continues to enjoy satisfactory conditions. Recent rains over a large part of the province insure ample supplies of feed for fall pasturage and for winter fodder.

Estimated production of butterfat for the three weeks ended July 30, is 19.3 per cent above that for the corresponding period in 1937, the figures being 3,811,740 and 3,195,596 pounds respectively.

Candy, Cigarettes Stolen Thursday From City Store

Believed to be the work of juveniles or youths, the Ready Money Grocery, 118 avenue and 97 street, was broken into early Thursday morning and more than $15 worth of candy and cigarettes stolen.

The break-in was discovered by Constable F. Sloane who noticed that the pane of glass had been taken out of the front door.

COMPANY WINS RENTAL CLAIM FOR PROPERTY

Court Finds Kresge Company Not Liable For Lane Closing

Action by the S. S. Kresge Company, Ltd., to collect $303 rental from the Northern Agency and to obtain a court order for payment of a similar amount for three further months was successful, Mr. Justice W. R. Howson, in a supreme court judgment handed down Thursday, finding that Kresge Company was not liable for the closing of a lane at the rear of the property purchased on 101 street.

He found that the Army and Navy Department Store Ltd. was liable for damages through the closing of the lane, but as the damage was only nominal the amount allowed the Northern Agency Ltd. was placed at $50.

The action arose out of the land deal under which the Kresge Company acquired their 101 street property. The Northern Investment Company undertook, as part of the sale agreement, to pay rent for 11 months at the rate of $303 monthly.

In February, 1936, notice was given the Kresge Company by the property vendors that further rentals would not be paid as the rental value of the property had been impaired by the closing of the lane at the rear of the buildings.

Dominion Socreds Talk Attitude On National Problems

Caucus of Social Credit members of parliament, called by John H. Blackmore, leader of the parliamentary group, opened at the legislative buildings at 10 a.m. Thursday, and the general caucus will commence at 2 p.m. with expectation of clearing the agenda by nightfall.

All members of the Social Credit forces in parliament from this province are expected to attend with the exception of William Hayhurst, member for Vegreville, who is on a European trip.

Joseph Needham, member for the Battlefords, Sask., will attend.

PREMIER ATTENDS

Premier William Aberhart stated on Thursday morning that he proposed to attend.

Purpose of the caucus is to discuss the last session of parliament and the Social Credit attitude on various questions, such as national defence and others, at the coming session.

REGULARLY CALLED

Premier Aberhart said that he did not think that Mr. Blackmore's caucus is calling the Dominion members together, had any bearing on a rumored fall session of parliament. It was a regularly called caucus, such as the parliamentary group has called each year.

Mr. Blackmore confirmed the premier's statement that the caucus was in a general nature. The Mennonite question, he said, was not on the agenda although it might be discussed in a general way.

Interviewed at the noon adjournment of the caucus, Mr. Blackmore declared that all members of the executive had been present at the morning sitting save A. H. Mitchell of Medicine Hat. One of the party group, who was unavoidably detained on business.

Other members of the executive are Victor Quelch, Acadia; Rev. E. G. Hansell, Macleod; Charles E. Johnston, Bow River, and Joseph Needham, The Battlefords, Sask.

GENERAL TALK

"We had a general discussion, regarding the past, present and future," said Mr. Blackmore. "It is well to get together now and again to have a mutual understanding, as with our group functioning at Ottawa and the government sitting here, we should get together for a mutual discussion at least once a year."

He said that some resolutions had been discussed which the members might introduce at the next session of parliament at Ottawa.

Asked regarding Major C. H. Douglas' statement in London that Alberta had never had true Social Credit, Mr. Blackmore said: "I thoroughly agree. We have not had true Social Credit, because we have never been allowed to put it into effect. We have been blocked at every turn. This is no reflection on the government, which has done all in its power to bring it into effect."

Asked if he felt Social Credit would be introduced, Mr. Blackmore declared he thought it would.

"Would you say when?" he was asked.

"I can't say when, any more than one could have predicted when the World War would have ended or when President Roosevelt's reforms will be put into effect."

"Then you do not think that Social Credit is at a dead end as predicted in the Calgary Albertan?" he was asked.

MOVEMENT GROWS

"No," he replied. "Social Credit is growing. People are realizing how helpless the Dominion government is in dealing with unemployment. People are seeing that something must be done, and solution centres around monetary reform. The best thinkers in the world are convinced of this."

Through The Mill

Because Magistrate A. H. Gibson is a most sceptical person—especially when it comes to alibis from the prisoner's dock—a man who insisted that he was merely the innocent tool of another man who has since mysteriously disappeared, was sentenced to serve one year with hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan jail. The fact that the smooth-tongued alibi-artist had seven previous convictions didn't make his story any the more convincing either.

He was charged with obtaining an automobile from a local driver-yourself agency by presenting what purported to be a written order from a local club.

He got the car, under a name other than his own, and disappeared with it. Several days later police found the auto, wrecked, in an outlying district of the city. Then they found the man.

His explanation was that he had obtained the car for another man who must have wrecked it. He had used the other man's name because the other man told him to. That was all he knew. He had merely done the other fellow a favor. He didn't know where his "friend" was now.

"I don't believe you," said the cadi. "One year."

Hope, despair, and then gratitude showed in rapid succession on the face of a girl who appeared for sentence on a vagrancy charge to which she had previously pleaded guilty.

"I have sent my trunks back to my home in Saskatchewan. I have means to buy a ticket home and I can leave this afternoon," she told the cadi, hope lighting her face with a smile.

"You can, eh?" remarked the cadi without any expression. "I sentence you to six months with hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan jail—" The smile faded and a look of despair replaced it as the girl looked at the bench. But the cadi had not finished. "The warrant for your committal will be held until 5 p.m. Then you leave this town by then you will not have to go to jail," he explained. The smile returned.

"Oh, thank you, sir," she said breathlessly, as she walked from the dock.

Mother love can be a dangerous and troublesome thing, too. Although the law is understanding, it is not always sympathetic. An attractive young matron appeared on a charge of assaulting a neighbor. The neighbor woman slapped the accused's child following a quarrel between their children. Then the accused struck the neighbor woman with a broom," explained the detective.

"Very understandable. But still you must learn to control your temper," said the magistrate as he imposed a fine of $1.50 and suspended sentence for three months.

There is an old adage which says: "He who would go to law must have clean hands." And a young man who appeared as the complainant in a charge of theft against a young gypsy girl discovered it to his sorrow.

The girl was charged with stealing $31 from the person of the man and with fortune telling. Her lawyer asked for an adjournment. The prosecutor opposed the application because "the complainant is just passing through the city."

"She has a right to ask for adjournment. And I have no sympathy for a man who spends his few hours in the city as this man apparently did," said the cadi. The young man, whose knowledge of English was "not so hot" was ordered to stay in town until the trial, Monday, in spite of his plea to be allowed to go threshing. The gypsies left a

CALDER LEAGUE GARDEN ENTRIES ARE INCREASING

Top entry mark of 300 set in last year's Calder Community League flower and vegetable show has been exceeded this year, officials announced Thursday. The annual show will take place Friday and Saturday of this week in the community hall, 123 street and 127 avenue.

Class for gladiolus is open to growers all over the city, but entries in other classes are restricted to Calder residents. Entries are in charge of C. R. Young, 13065 113 street.

Calder gardens have, for the past three years, won the annual competition sponsored by the Federation of Community Leagues, and despite t. e more growing conditions these past few weeks, the chairman of the Society, C. A. Somers, says the growers have every hope of again copping the coveted prize.

The Inquiring Reporter

Possibility of Henry Armstrong, San Francisco negro, annexing his third boxing world's championship in his fight with Lou Ambers Wednesday evening caused the Inquiring Reporter to seek opinions on his chance of wresting the lightweight championship from Ambers. He received the following replies:

TOM MOOREHOUSE, shoe shiner: I expect to see that black boy take the title in the fifth round. My money is singing that tune and I guess it is as good as in my pocket.

BILL GRIFFIN, returned soldier: Armstrong is such a terrific hitter that I am confident he will take Ambers. It will be a great fight, but Armstrong seems to be too good for the present lightweight champ.

HERB READE, proprietor: Ambers will be hard to beat. He is a shifty fighter, and will give the San Francisco negro all the fight he wants. I expect he will go the route and Ambers get the decision.

When the facts are against you there is always the law. A fact which was apparently known to the director of a certain corporation. Called before the court on a charge of operating without a license between the dates of January 3 and February 3 of this year on a charge sworn on August 6, the lawyer for the company pointed out that the period between the end of the offense charged and the date the charge was sworn was three days more than six months.

"The law requires the charge to be laid within six months," said the lawyer.

"That is right," agreed the cadi.

"I guess that is what the accused had in mind when he asked us to set those dates on the charge sheet," remarked the prosecutor ruefully as the cadi dismissed the charge.

CONVICTION ON THEFT CHARGE NOW APPEALED

Clayton-Hellier Case To Be Heard By High Court In Fall

Hearing of the appeal by the supreme court of Canada against conviction and three year sentence imposed on Thomas Clayton and Albert Hellier by Mr. Justice H. W. Lunney and upheld by the Alberta appeal court is set for the latter part of September, according to information received here.

A. W. Miller, Edmonton barrister, who represented the two accused persons in the supreme court and appeal court trials will appear for them at the supreme court of Canada hearing in Ottawa.

The men were convicted of stealing a safe from the Midland Pacific Grain Company premises at Inland on January 19 last, and were captured by Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Edmonton as they attempted to open the safe in a bluff south of the Strathcona baseball park.

When the accused' appeal was dismissed by the Alberta appeal court, Chief Justice Horace Harvey intimated the appeal should be carried to the supreme court of Canada.

Raising A Family

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A little girl went visiting. Later she said to her mother, "I didn't have a very good time. The girls talked at me so. I thought they were mean to each other too, for somebody was always trying to get back at somebody else."

O. R. Barton

Her mother stroked the smooth hair understandingly. "I guess I know what you mean, darling. Sometimes I go places where I feel absolutely helpless. When anybody says something to me that sounds unpleasant my mind isn't searching for a chance to give someone a cut. You're just like me, thank goodness."

"But I feel so stupid," said the child. "All the girls were so smart. When Helen said to Elizabeth that she didn't like artists—Elizabeth's father paints, you know—quick as a flash she answered, 'That's because artists pick pretty girls to paint.' I wouldn't have thought that."

"And I'm delighted," said mother. "Neither you nor I lie awake nights planning things to say. It gets to be a habit after awhile. Do you know why I left the club last year? Well, it was because some of the ladies were always making somebody uncomfortable. I got tired trying to defend myself when I didn't know how.

"If I had stayed, pretty soon I would have been exulting in doing what Elizabeth did, and even watching for a chance to show how clever I was."

"Then I wasn't just being stupid and slow, was I? When Hester asked me what color my room was I said it was mixed, and she said she wondered how anybody could sleep in a mixed room. I didn't need to say, 'How little you've travelled,' did I? I thought that up on the way home."

"It would have been a good answer, dear, and she deserved it, but if you begin saying things like that, you get into the habit.

"Movies make girls talk so brightly and give them such amusing little gags to speak, that now all the nice girls like yourself feel you have to learn how to make wise cracks. But most people are plain and not so gifted."

"You don't want me to be smart?"

"No, not that way."

Crowding around the luxurious automobile in which the little man with the big flying record sat smiling, usually blase New Yorkers whistled and yelled their approval. Jewels!

This fall, according to those in the know, will see our lovely ladies of fashion gaily bedecked in sparkling rubies, sapphires, pearls, emeralds and diamonds, much in the manner of the miss above. According to the story they tell, it is Lady Mendl, British society leader, who is responsible for this fashion whim. When she recently visited several of the high potentates and Maharajas of India, her hosts showered her their overflowing gem vaults and sent her home with several quarts of the above-mentioned gems. Lady Mendl had several lavish settings made for them and as a result several manufacturers asked permission to copy them.

Even Had Tickler's Plum

It was like old times for the Canadian National Railways war veterans who travelled to Toronto to join the Canadian Corps Reunion. One group went in one of the old vintage coaches that brought the boys home in 1918. "Emergency rations" were served for breakfast, including tea with the well remembered chlorinated flavor but minus the strands of sandbag, bread from Bruay, and genuine "Tickler's Jam." The men with the trays were all old soldiers. They relented on this occasion and served the bacon and eggs, long the hope of the troops.

By way of contrast, another group of veterans made the trip in an up-to-date Canadian National air-conditioned coach.

A realistic trench was set up in one of the 20-year-old coaches. In the photograph, the "Relief" is headed by Col. F. F. Clarke of Montreal. The sergeant-major is Major Alistair Fraser, M.C. Hockey Names Fade As New Deal Comes Into Force — Hockey Shows Much Improvement — Says Our Spud

By JACK DEAKIN

FROM the Edmonton hockey picture fades a name which will long be remembered—Ira Stuart's Superiors—also dropping from the Arena scoreboard will be Dominions. Kims are written for these two teams following the announcement last night that the Edmonton Sports Booster Club had taken over the lone Edmonton hockey team for next winter.

Going back some six or seven years, the Superior name stands out more sensationally. In those years Ira Stuart led his popular "Soops" to several provincial championships and in 1933-34 the Superiors made a grand stand in their European tour. In the early 1930's the Superiors were, perennially, the provincial champions. The Superiors won first recognition as far back as 1925, since then rising to the heights, and recently, in the past few years, dropping badly and now out of the picture.

Dominions, first known as Victorias and later Maple Leafs and Crescents, did not loom any too brightly in the local limelight until the last two years. In those two years the Dominions took over the ruling position held by the Soops. The Dominions two years ago, took internationally to Western Canada senior playoffs, losing to North Battleford after trimming everything in Alberta and British Columbia. Last year neither Dominions or Soops hit the provincial final, the Soops dropping out early and the Dominions losing to Drumheller. But as the Superiors and Dominions fade into the past, Edmonton will long remember them for their prowess and pays tribute to the men who, in keeping these two teams operating, kept Edmonton's hockey alive.

Improved Hockey For Western Fans

ALBERTA hockey is slowly but surely coming in line with the greatly improved senior calibre. Southern Alberta started the move for better hockey last year when Lethbridge Maple Leafs built a strong aggregation to enter the Kootenay League, in which league Trail, classy Dominion champions and Allen Cup winners, played. Northern Alberta hockey had improved only slightly. This season every team in the Northern district will be strengthened.

Calgary has already had its imports nestled away in the football city. The southern city has brought in such starry players as Bill Ezzy and Herman Grahm, both of last year's Dominion junior champions, the St. Boniface Seals. Also at the helm of hockey in Calgary is that clever playmaking centre, Davie Duchak.

All the remaining Alberta teams have strengthened. Olds had acquired the hockey knowledge of Frank Coulson, who in turn is building up a strong team and has already signed Eddie O'Keefe. Drumheller, too has improved its hockey with importations while Turner Valley has signed Elmer Piper, last year's coach of the champion Trail Smokes, to coach its entry. Lethbridge is expected to stand "pat" and is expected to be about tops in the Alberta hockey hustling industry.

Dead Heat Hurdle Race First In West

ACCORDING to William "Spud" Murphy of the pantery, he who usually has a private interview with a rank outsider to see how the horse feels, and, if the nag feels like running, then puts 50-50-50 across the board and not cents either, Western Canada had its first dead heat in a hurdle race. The dead heat was noticed by Our Spud when looking to see if his 100-1 shot had come in. Of course, being strictly an ardent fan and as far as Spud can forget the fact that he left the horse Nugent, a rank outsider had paid the limit and returned $107.15 for two. The money wasn't news, but the fact that Vancouver Express and Somers Choice came down under the wire nose and nose in the hurdle race, certainly was.

Of course, after drinking that news into us, Spud also showed where his choice, Nugent, coupled with Shasta Dream, paid the fair sum of $328.65. At that, those pulling the straight Spud scene, and who left the sport joint, mumbling and thinking of some way in which he could chat with outsiders next week in order to get the dope from the feed box and clean up enough during the race meeting next week at the Exhibition track so he can retire for two weeks at least.

Arrows, Belmonts Both Need Points Game Tonight

Arrows and Belmonts will be battling bitterly for much needed points when they hook up in a scheduled Senior League game at Renfrew Park tonight, starting at 6:15 p.m.

The Arrows, once proud leaders of the league and now second place holders, need the win badly to stay up with the top teams and make more certain their playoff chances. Tonight Bud Foley is expected to do the pitching duties. Bud has had a good rest and may come through with the win.

The Belmonts, third place team also must get out and rumble up some points. Not any too far ahead of the cellar place team, Belmonts are out to make their biggest bid for those much needed points.

Herman Loblick of Lampitt may do the pitching for the Belmont team.

Aussies Meet Jap Davis Cuppers Today

MONTREAL, Aug. 11. — Two youthful veterans from Australia, only British Empire representatives still in the running for the Davis cup, were favored to win over Japan in the North American zone finals starting here today.

Jack Bromwich, an athletic six foot powerhouse, and his slighter partner Adrian Quist drew starting assignments Wednesday when the draw was made for the opening singles matches. Their opponents will be Jiro Hamagami and Punpei Nakano, speedy little Japanese duo who visited Canada in the zone semi-finals two weeks ago.

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WESTLOCK, Aug. 11.—Westlock and Alix remained deadlocked in the Northern Alberta Senior baseball playoffs each having won two games after two days of steady hitting.

In the first days play Alix won the first game by a 6-5 score from Westlock, but the Westlock wallopers came back in the second game to take a 5-2 count.

Yesterday the teams hooked up again in a doubleheader and again they each won one, Alix took the first one yesterday by an 8-6 score while Westlock had the rallying strength to pick off the second game by a 4-3 score.

The teams will play the fifth and deciding game today at Westlock.

SPORTS BULLETIN

Rushing the Football Season

Second Half Rally Gives Coast Eleven 1-1 Draw in Dominion Final

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11.—A second half form reversal brought Vancouver North Shore United a 1-1 tie here last night in the first game of a best-of-three series for the Dominion football championship with Timmins Dome Mines. Second game will be played Friday night and the third Saturday.

Clearly outplayed during the first 45 minutes, the rugged west coast eleven gained momentum as the second half progressed and were in full command when the game ended.

Dome Mines, eastern champions, presented a lighter, smoother-passing club than the western title-holders, in the first half they were clever footwork and accurate passing plays demoralized North Shore and only the splendid work of Fullbacks Tom Cummings and Bob Harrison prevented them from scoring on several occasions.

FREAK TALLY

The lone goal of the first half came two minutes before the close. Brilliant George Chambers, Dome centre forward, crossed sharply from the right side and in attempting to clear the ball Tom Cummings deflected it into his own net.

The goal, however, was merited on the run of play. North Shore could not organize threatening attacks and were on the defensive throughout the half, victims of deft play by the clever eastern forwards.

The second period was a different story. As in the deciding game of the western final with Winnipeg United Wanderers, North Shore swung to the offensive after the rest period.

Their halfbacks lobbed high kicks into the Dome goal-mouth and forwards raced in after the loose ball. Dome failed to show their first half aggressiveness and combination play.

EQUALIZED

Near the mid-way mark North Shore equalized. Trevor Harvey fired a raising shot-from 40 feet out that caught the upper right side of the goal.

The British Columbians continued to monopolize play until the end of the game but there was no further scoring.

LINEUPS

Vancouver: Ibbott, Cummings, Harrison; Kazoolin, Harvey, Goodheart; Liptropp, Robinson, McManus, Spencer, Christie. Subs: Wylie, Larson, Young, Findler.

Dome Mines: Baxter; Barnes, Hampton; Munroe, Paynter, Whyte; H. Lone, Fernie, Chambers, Galbraith, Leone. Subs: Foster, J. Lone.

Injury Jinx Hits Edmonton Football Camp

The old injury jinx struck Edmonton's newly formed grid camp last night as the Eskimos went through their regular evening drill without the fiery presence of Steve Olander. Steve injured his foot during Monday night's workout and an examination yesterday revealed that a small bone in his foot had been broken. As a result the starry punter, whose long spirals played a big part in Winnipeg Bombers' march to the dominion final last year, will be out of action for at least two weeks and he will probably miss the opening game.

But that didn't stop coach Bob Fritz and his grid warriors from turning in one of their smartest practice sessions to date this season. The boys spent the early part of the evening running through various plays and then got together for a dummy scrimmage.

A veteran of many rugby wars, Lou Rimstad was in the blubbereaters lineup last night and promises to be a big asset to the Igloomen. Lou broke through the line time and again during the dummy scrimmage last night and opposing linesmen always found him hard to shove aside. Policeman Jerry McPeake wasn't exactly a shover-over either. And a young man named Brockie, who cuts a mean figure on the ball diamond, also showed all kinds of promise in a grid outfit.

RECRUITS

Three husky line stalwarts from Minnetula will join Eskimos at their practice tonight. They are Lyle Howell, a 210-pound centre, Gordon Grainge, a 235-pound tackle and Ed. O'Brien who tots 170 pounds around the end position. They will complete Edmonton's import quota. They were scheduled to arrive yesterday but were delayed at the border because of an immigration mixup.

They will be welcome additions to Fritz' fusillers.

Inter-Club Swim Gala Scheduled For South Side Tonight

The annual inter-club swimming gala for the S. W. Fields trophy will be held at the South Side swimming pool tonight starting at 8:00 p.m. There will be no individual awards such as those presented at the club galas held recently. The points won by the various club's swimmers and the club with the highest total wins the trophy.

Last year the East and West End clubs ended in a dead heat with 86 points each. South Side had 76.

Dick Tougas Defeated by Jimmy Hoyle

Another fine evening's tennis was enjoyed in the tournament being held on the courts by "the Hill." The feature match of the night and one which attracted the largest gallery to date was between the defending champion J. Hoyle and young Dick Tougas of hockey fame. This was probably the finest match of the tournament so far both players at times reaching heights. The score was 6-4, 9-11, 6-2, giving a very fair picture of the game. Richard with fine passing drives kept Jimmy from his favorite position at the net. Both players played a deep driving game which was a delight to watch. In the end Hoyle's greater experience and power told and he ran out the final set at 6-2.

Bessie McAvoy advanced in to the ladies' semi-final at the expense of Helen Stewart 6-1, 6-1 while Edna Kenwood reached the final of her bracket with a 6-2, 6-2 triumph over B. Scott.

Brant, Rimstad Play Starry Roles

Next game: Tonight, at Renfrew Park, 6:15 p.m., Arrow Busses vs. Belmonts.

By JACK DEAKIN

TOMMY BRANT'S masterful two-hit pitching and a ringing two-ply blow off the big bat wielded by Walter "Phats" Rimstad, coming in the eighth inning with Cardinals running the pathways, paid diamond dividends for the Cardinals as they turned back Arrow Busses for a 3-1 senior baseball payoff at Renfrew Park last night.

Following Manager Ralph Morgan's smart three-hit job on Tuesday, Tommy Brant went out last night to better that mark and did so handsomely. Brant allowed singles in the third and fourth, hurling seven hitless and eight scoreless frames.

Arrows were the early starters. After three scoreless frames the Arrows squeezed across one run as Jack McGill scored. McGill went to first base on a "walk" and went to second base as F. Lupul was tagged out at first base. Kilburn's single sent McGill to third and the young Arrow first sacker scored when Al Fenton lifted a high fly ball to left field.

TIED IT UP

Cardinals soon got that run back. They drummed up a two-hit assault in the sixth with Morgan getting a single and later sacrificed to second by Bill Green. Hippo Lutz' long single to right field sent Morgan across to deadlock the score.

Three hits produced two runs for the Cardinals, Morgan again started the Cardinal rally. He singled to left field while Bill Green followed up with another neat bingle to the same field, Morgan racing to third base. And then came Walter "Phats, Shag, Harlem, Whitey" Rimsted.

SHAG GOES BIG

Walter set himself solid in the batting box. The big blonde first-sacker took a lusty well at the ball and the while pellet fairly screamed across to centre field. It was a long hit, past the fleet-footed George Green and Rimstad stopped at second-base. Before him Morgan and Green raced home for the winning margin.

While Brant held an edge over Buck Eaton in the seven innings that they waged a pitcher's duel, Eaton toured a good game. He struck out nine batters and gave off seven hits, weakening mostly in that big Cardinal eighth inning.

The triumph practically assured Cardinals of first place. They are now a full two games ahead of the Arrows.

Tonight the Arrows will be on the spot when they play the Belmonts. Their hopes of top place depend mostly on the game tonight, while they are fairly well sure of hitting the playoffs.

The real fielding highlights came in the fifth inning when Fred Lupul snared George Green's long fly and then in the seventh as Sandy Milligan pulled off a sensational one-handed catch.

Softball

Alphonsus took a one-game lead in their provincial intermediate men's softball playdowns last night by defeating Columbus Club 8-0 at the Boyle street diamond. Young Liberals were slated to meet Central Meteors at the Golf Links but were forced to default the game when they couldn't field a team. It was a provincial playdown tilt too.

Out at Lloydminster, the Mannville Merrymakers faded from the ladies' intermediate softball playdowns for the provincial crown when they dropped a northern division, first-round series to Lloydminster National. Mannville had previously won the opening tilt 8-7, but last night they were no match for the powerful border town nine, dropping the first game of a doubleheader 7-1 and the second 29-10.

Nationals now meet Edmonton Blacks and White stores in the northern division finals.

EDMONTON PLANS STRONG ENTRY SENIOR HOCKEY

HARNESS RACING

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 11.—Lawrence B. Sheppard proved the wisdom of his $20,000 investment Wednesday when the well-built McLin trotted to a straight-heat victory in the Hambletonian — blue - ribbon event of light harness racing.

At home on Good Time Park's triangular track, where he received his preparation for trotting's richest race, the bay son of Mr. McElwyn-Ethelinda turned back the bid of nine of the high ranking three-year-olds, including Long Key, heavily played favorite owned by E. J. Merkle of Columbus, Ohio.

Just 10 days ago, McLin was quartered in W. H. Cane's nearby Good Time stable. He had finished last in five starts as a two-year-old but jumped into prominence by whipping Long Key in one heat of the American stakes at Agawam.

WON IT BACK

Sheppard, looking for a colt to follow in the footsteps of other Hambletonian winners from his Hanover, Pa., Shoe Farms, Hanover's Bertha and Shirley Hanover, offered Cane and trainer Walter Cox $20,000 for the horse. The offer was accepted. Wednesday McLin earned nearly all that back for the winner's share of the $37,962 amounted to $19,944.30.

YOUTH PROTESTS RACIAL BARRIER

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 11.—Great indignation has been expressed by the South African Youth Peace Council at the refusal of the government to grant a passport to the Bantu (South African native) delegate to the World Youth Congress.

The headquarters of the World Youth Congress movement in Geneva asked the South African Youth Peace Council to send a Bantu delegation to the congress as well as a European delegation. Accordingly a conference of non-European organizations was called and it was decided to send Nkomo as the Bantu delegate.

The South African Council has protested the government's decision saying: "In the interests of world peace and of the attempt to bring about an improvement in the relations between all nations and races . . . we strongly appeal for immediate reconsideration of your decision."

Sports Booster Club to Build Team

EDMONTON'S "new deal" in hockey got under way with the announcement last night that the Edmonton Sports Booster Club had taken over the senior hockey team to represent Edmonton next winter in an entirely new Alberta league.

President N. A. "Nick" MacPhee of the booster club made the announcement, stating that the boosters had made purchase of the Superiors' and Dominions' equipment and now the boosters will build one strong team to enter the league in which Lethbridge, Turner Valley, Drumheller, one team from Calgary, Olds and one team from Edmonton will play.

Hanging in the balance for several weeks, this new hockey deal has long since been anticipated. Owing to the more mediocre play seen in the senior league these past years, and especially in the last two, the decision to form one strong team here was made.

THREE IMPORTS

At least three imports will be brought to Edmonton for hockey duty. All are expected to be announced with one already signed from Nova Scotia and the other pair being investigated at present.

Too, the booster club can call upon all the players who saw action for the senior teams last season. With a little imported power the booster club feels confident it can produce a team to give this city real hockey.

Offers also, are expected to be made to Joe and Jerry Brown. The Brown boys, not brothers, played remarkably well last season for Earls Court Rangers in the English National League.

Both Browns have been stars in Edmonton hockey in previous years, with Joe being on old ace with the Superiors and Jerry a senior star with the Dominions following a sparkling performance in the junior league.

GOOD COACHING

Edmonton's problem of good coaching will also be solved. The booster club has already obtained the services of a coach who has already won fame in hockey wars. His name cannot be announced at the moment owing to certain circumstances but will be made known in the near future.

Another Edmonton star, whom the club hopes to interest in local hockey again, is Mark Maretzky who played last year with the Duluth Zephers.

And finally the booster club may be able to work into its lineup, a star or two of last year's junior hockey campaign. There will undoubtedly be, at least one or two players from the lesser league of last year, make the grade in senior company this season.

Slim Lead

Rain Delays Ambers-Henry Armstrong Bout

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Aug. 11—Deluged by a sudden downpour of rain, the Henry Armstrong - Lou Ambers lightweight title fight last night was postponed until next Wednesday night, when it will be held in Madison Square Garden.

Promoter Mike Jacobs announced postponement and change of scene after rain fell for nearly a half hour, starting shortly after 5 p.m., M.S.T. Managers of the principals as well as Brig. Gen. Phelan, of the State Athletic Commission, conferred with the promoter and agreed to the rearrangement.

Less than 5,000 cash customers were in the Polo Grounds when the shower added a final blow to the match, which already had developed into a financial flop. The advance sale was approximately $25,000.

Earlier, with a slight drizzle of rain falling Jacobs had said:

PUT AHEAD

"We will put on the main bout ahead of schedule, if this keeps up." The original schedule for the 15-round main go called for it to go on at 7 p.m., M.S.T.

FINAL BLOW

The whole thing was as dreary a farce spectacle, from every angle, as New York has witnessed in years. The ticket sale, dull for weeks, pepped up a little during the day and then just about disappeared as the weather added a final blow to a match that figured, in advance, to be one of the most interesting in some time and perhaps historic.

For Armstrong, 25-year-old negro boy, it offered the chance to become the first triple champion in ring history. He already holds the featherweight and welterweight championships, captured within the last 18 months.

Football Explained

—By—
Eric "Eck" Duggan

(This is the third of a series of daily articles prepared by Eric Duggan, western Canadian rugby football official.)

IN YESTERDAY'S article we left you with the Edmonton Eskimos in the throes of executing an end run. This play is often preceded by a fake play of some nature with a view to deception. Consequently it is the quarterback's hope that the end run will result in a reasonably large gain.

However, let us assume for illustration that the Calgary tacklers break through the Eskimo interference and bring the ball carrier down after allowing him a gain of only five yards. It is now second down and five yards to go.

The quarterback calls his signals for a line buck, which is a more conservative type of play than the end run but often gains substantial yardage. The intended ball carrier receives the ball either directly from the centre or from the quarterback. He may pivot or faint in one direction and then, led by two or three men running interference, he charges through the designated spot in the line.

It is the intent of hopes of every one of the Eskimos that this play will net the remaining five yards and thus eliminate the hazard in losing possession.

But, once again the Calgary players smash in and the ball carrier is tackled with ten yards to go. Thus the Eskimos are left with this short distance to make the required 10 yards. Will they punt! Will they try a fake buck? Will they try to gain the necessary yardage and keep possession of the ball?

(Tomorrow we will give you the punt from scrimmage.)

The world's fastest bird, the duck hawk, has been timed flying 180 miles an hour.

YOUTH MAKES MONEY DURING KILLING TRIAL

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 11.—An enterprising youth injected a bit of carnival spirit into the Carroll murder trial atmosphere Wednesday, offering parts of 14 pictures of the defendant's daughter, Barbara, for sale at 25 cents each.

The cards bore the written signature "Barb Carroll."

The same youth sold frankfurters to the crowd then milled about the courthouse entrance. Business was brisk in both lines.

ITALIAN JEWS WARNED NOT TO DELUDE SELVES

British United Press

ROME, Aug. 11.—Warning Jews not to delude themselves into thinking that the present phase of Italy's anti-semitic drive is the concluding phase, the semi-official news organ Relazioni Internationali, stated:

"For us Fascists this question of race is not the concluding phase but rather the point of departure."

The paper added that discussion or doubt among Italians concerning the anti-semitic campaign will not be tolerated because the question is political as well as scientific.

The article ended with a parody of the Pope's famous speech to the Catholic action which terminated with, "He who strikes the Pope dies." It stated: "The revolution is marching forward. Whoever strikes the revolution dies."

Another indication of which way the wind is blowing was publication of a list of 25 Jewish doctors in the ultra-Fascist newspaper, Tevere, edited by Telesio Interlandi, who also edits a magazine "In Defense of the Race."

The paper complained that Italian doctors were losing business to foreign Jews.

Elections Should Be Along Lines Of Corporative State

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 11 — Elections in Canada should be "along the lines of a corporative state," Rev. C. E. Silcox, secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, believes.

During discussion on the Dominion's political problems at a forum of the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics here yesterday, Mr. Silcox suggested Canada's parliament should be reorganized, the House of Commons to represent consumers and the senate the producers.

RELIEF WORK PLAN CHANGED AT CALGARY

Jobless Must Work April To October Instead 40 Hours Monthly

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—All physically fit, Calgary relief recipients will be required to work off monthly relief at the rate of 50 cents an hour during the months of April to October inclusive instead of the present 40 hours a month.

This is a new relief policy unanimously approved by the city's unemployment relief committee at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon.

During the winter months November to March, inclusive, the relief granted will be worked off at the rate of 40 hours a month, there being no change from present regulations.

EFFECTIVE AUG. 15

The relief recipient who works during seeding and harvest seasons will be required to work off his relief at the rate of 40 hours a month for the time he is engaged at such seasonal work.

The new regulations will go into effect Aug. 15 and a special meeting of city council will be held Friday, so that the regulations can be submitted to the aldermen for ratification.

The committee also recommended to council that the city "sign under protest" the new agreement for dominion-provincial relief grants to be effective from April, 1938, to December, 1938, inclusive, and subject to revision after September, 1938.
